NAYS—1.

McDermott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence..

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 434, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of an act approved the thirteenth day of May, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, entitled, "An Act to provide for the health, safety, and welfare of minors: By forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations, and under certain specified ages; by restricting their hours of labor, and regulating certain conditions of their employment; by requiring employment certificates for certain minors, and prescribing the kinds thereof, and the rules for the issuance, reissuance, filing, return, and recording of the the same; by providing that the Industrial Board shall, under certain conditions, determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act; requiring that certain minors shall, during the period of their employment, attend certain schools, to be established as therein provided, and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and regulating the conditions of such attendance; authorizing the State Board of Education, in certain cases, to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act, and creating the salary and expenses of sucn officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed; requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted; providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, the attendance officers of school districts and police officers; and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder, and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto; providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof; and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," changing the maximum number of hours in the working day and working week for minors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to call your attention to section four of this bill which reads, "No minor under sixteen years of age shall be permitted to work in about or in connection with any establishment or in any occupation for more than forty-eight hours in any one week or more than eight hours in any one day or before six o'clock in the morning or after eight o'clock in the evening in any one day. In computing the maximum number of hours per day or per week permitted under this act the hours spent in school by said minors shall be considered part of the working day or working week."

Members of the House, the present act I believe provides for the maximum of sixty-four hours per week or nine hours per day and the school time is included within those hours. Now, I can realize the spirit which prompted the enactment of this act into law, that the youth should not be compelled to undergo laborious work at a very tender and at a very early age, the spirit was very humane. I believe that industries, those who employ the real young boys and girls have realized by this time that this act was really in the interest of better men and better women. I recall when I was a small boy at the age of eleven, I worked in a glass house, and there were boys worked there much younger than I, and many of those boys when they grew to manhood were stunted, were really men who through the grinding, or through the oppressive methods that were then in use brought those boys to manhood, but still children in stature and in strength, but I believe, my friends, we have gone, at least for the time being, far enough. We can overdo these things. We can make it impossible for the youth to do any useful labor whatever, and especially if this bill is enacted into law. It changes the bill I believe....I was being corrected ....but I think I am correct when I say it changes the time from nine to eight hours per day. Many youngsters are usefully employed mornings before going to school in delivering papers. Under this act it would be impossible for them to do so inasmuch as the school hours are part and parcel of that eight hours. And the same applies in the evening. If they should attend school beginning with the school hour, we would say at nine o'clock, and then distribute papers or desired to in the evening, they would be barred from that very useful service. Now, we don't want to grow up a lot of youngsters who when they become of mature age will be inflicted with the hook worm, we have too many of them now, many of them grown up. We should give the children an opportunity to perform useful work, and to encourage them to do so, and not hedge restrictions about them so that it is impossible for an ambitious youth to give vent to his ambiton and to his energy, and by these restrictions be prevented from doing the things that he ought to do. Mr. Speaker, I believe that we ought to seriously consider these provisions before we finally vote upon it.

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say to my colleague from the western end of the State that the Child Labor Law as it now exists on the statute books has been in effect since 1915 in exempting certain classes of children, particularly the children in domestic service and farm labor. The hours of labor as we are trying to cover them here are only a reduction of three hours in a week, and I see no reason why that should not be amended, the old law, into this new plan that we have here. The superintendents of instruction of the larger school districts of the State, under the Superintendent of public instruction of the State, in conjunction with the efforts of the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, are pledged to give the children of the State the same co-operation and the same medium of welfare as they are giving under the old law. We have met with objections from two sources, and two sources only. One by the rural members, and their objection was eliminated when the law was presented to them and the other from a few large corporations who think more of the few cents it would take to employ an additional messenger to deliver their messages than they do of the interests of the young. They will tell us that we are bringing up a generation today who know nothing about work, that is a mistake on the face of it, because the records of an educational institution will reveal to you the fact that the earning capacity of the young man, every one of them, is enhanced to a greater degree because of the environment we have made it possible for them to live under. I earnestly ask that this bill be favored with the consideration of these amendments deserved.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Vol. 7. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1923. No. 32.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1923.

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Infinite, eternal and triune God, we come into Thy presence this morning to thank Thee for every blessing we are daily receiving from Thy beneficent hand. We pray Thy blessing upon the members of this Assembly as they again take up the duties of another day. We pray that Thou wouldst bless them bodily as well as mentally for the arduous duties that they have here to discharge; and not only these who labor here, but, we pray that Thou wouldst bless all throughout our Commonwealth who labor for the welfare of mankind, whether with brain or brawn. May Thy blessing rest upon the Speaker of this House, the officers and the Governor of this Commonwealth; upon our land and nation. Guide us to Thy praise and save us.

We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS.

COMMISSION TO MAKE SURVEY OF PENSIONS.

Mr. VICKERMAN offered the following resolution, which was read and laid over under the rules:

Whereas, at each session of the Legislature, bills are introduced for the purpose of providing pensions for State county and municipal officers and employes upon their retirement from office, many of these bills imposing a mandatory obligation upon the State, counties and municipalities, and

Whereas, the Legislature cannot during the busy weeks of its session ascertain the conditions and facts surrounding these demands and deal fairly with those who would receive the benefit of legislation of this class and also with the taxpayer whose money is appropriated, and

Whereas the existing pension laws for State county and municipal officers and employes differ greatly as to conditions under which benefits can be granted and as to the methods by which the necessary revenues are obtained, and

Whereas, it is the sense of the members of this Legislature that all public pension funds should be placed on a sound uniform and equitable basis under a fixed State policy, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a commission of seven members be appointed, two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House and two by the Governor to be known as the "Public Service Pension Commission" to make a survey of all pension and retirement funds for the officers and employes of the State and the various county and municipal governments, to investigate the question of the desirability of establishing a uniform equitable system of retiring State, county and municipal employes and whether a proper standard can be established for fixing the basis of such pensions to the end that all shall be dealt with fairly, the said commission to report their findings together with any recommendations thereon at the next session of the Legislature, and

That the members of said commission shall serve without compensation and the expenses of said commission shall be limited to five thousand ($5,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary and that the same be provided for in the next general appropriation bill.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE TRIAL OF PITTSBURGH ELECTION CASES.

Mr. VICKERMAN introduced the following resolution which was read and laid over under the rules.

A concurrent resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint committee of the Senate and House to investigate the trail of election cases in Allegheny County and to make a report thereon to the present General Assembly.

Whereas for many years there has been wide spread complaint of gross fraud in elections in Allegheny County, which, it is averred, subvert the will of the people of that County and of the City of Pittsburgh, which complaints have resulted in numerous prosecutions of election officials and others; and,

Whereas no such prosecutions have resulted in convictions which has led many to the belief that the course of justice has been corrupted, that political influence is stronger than the courts and that juries are tampered with, all of which is bringing the Courts of justice into disrepute and is destroying the foundations of government.

Section 1. Be it resolved (if the Senate concur) That a committee to consist of two members of the Senate to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and three members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker, shall be appointed to investigate the trial of election cases in Allegheny County and to make a report to the present General Assembly in sufficient time before adjournment to be considered by the General Assembly in reference to passage of jury bills and election bills now pending.

Section 2. The committee shall make a thorough and prompt investigation of the trial of election cases in Allegheny County and report their findings and recommendations at the earliest possible time. They shall have authority to issue subpoenas for persons and records and shall be allowed their traveling and other expenses, including, if need be, the services of an attorney and clerk.

Section 3. The sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the use of the committee, payment to be made on order of the committee accompanied by itemized and verified vouchers and on warrant of the Auditor General.

NAYS—1.

Allman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 862 (Senate Bill No. 75), as follows:

An Act to amend section seventy-five of an act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An Act to Consolidate Revise and Amend the Penal Laws of this Commonwealth" by providing the penalty for murder of the first degree shall be either death or life imprisonment at the discretion of the jury or of the court as the case may be

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section seventy-five of the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An Act to Consolidate Revise and Amend the Penal Laws of this Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 75 That every person convicted of the crime of murder of the first degree his aiders abettors and counsellors shall be sentenced to suffer death in the manner provided by law or to undergo imprisonment for life at the discretion of the jury trying the case which shall fix the penalty by its verdict the court to impose the sentence so fixed as in other cases In cases of pleas of guilty the court where it determines the crime to be murder of the first degree shall at its discretion impose sentence of death or imprisonment for life and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court wherein such conviction takes place and he is hereby required within ten days after such sentence of death to transmit a full and complete record of the trial and conviction to the Governor of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House here is a bill which proves a penalty for murder in the first degree. I wish to state to the members of this House that under the present law any person convicted of murder in the first degree is punishable by electrocution.

Under this bill it would give the jury or the trial judge authority to fix the penalty, which I think in my opinion is entirely wrong. We have got at the present time entirely too much murder committed in this Commonwealth, and therefore I don't think it is proper to make the penalty for the offense lighter than it is at the present time, and under those considerations I ask you in fairness to vote the bill down.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I want to concur in what my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Dilsheimer has said. It seems to me that is leaving entirely too much to the plea for clemency, which any able counsel representing a defendant can interpose upon a jury. It seems to me it is bad practice, and that the law in this respect should be allowed to stand as it is. I hope this bill is defeated.

MOTION TO POSTPONE.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, out of respect for the sponsor of this bill may I move that the bill be placed on the postponed calender.

Mr. WILLIAM T. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 864 (Senate Bill No. 183), as follows:

An Act requiring prothonotaries to mark the time judgments are left at the office for entering providing for the priority of such liens to be determined according to such time

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the first day of July next each of the prothonotaries of the several courts of common pleas in this Commonwealth shall endorse upon each judgment and each revival of a judgment entered at such office and upon the judgment docket the time they are left at the office for such purpose

When two or more judgments or revivals of judgments which have lost their lien are left upon the same day or when a judgment and a mortgage affecting the same property are left at the respective offices upon the same day the priority of the respective liens shall be determined according to the time entered

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if I understand the provisions of this bill, I would be opposed to it for two reasons. In the first place the file folio of the bill has been changed from what it was on the original calendar? If I understand the bill correctly, it provides that when a judgement is entered for recording, the prothonotary must note the minute the judgement is filed with him for record, and in the case of a mortgage it is the same thing, the recorder would be required to note the minute the mortgage was presented for record and the various judgments and mortgages would have preference on the record according to the time they were left with the recorder. I think that is a mistake. In a matter of liens of this kind I do not think we ought to consider the fractions of a day. It has not been the custom heretofore, and in addition to the additional responsibility placed upon the men who have the entering of these judgements and the recording of the mortgages, it puts a great responsibility upon the party or anyone who is examining titles, and in addition to that, it puts a very great responsibility and a lot of additional work upon those who have to do with this line of court work. I, personally, can see no reason why we should consider the fraction of a day in matters of this kind. The usual practice now in making a conveyance and entering mortgages is to enter your mortgage and bring your search down the next day, and then any judgments that are entered on the same day as the mortgage or judgment, will require them to be satisfied or postponed, but if you come to consider the fraction of an hour or down to the minute, it not only entails this additional work, but it gives the opportunity for people to juggle the hours and time that judgments and mortgages are entered, thereby giving particular preference to some special friend. For that reason, I think the bill is a bad one and I would ask you to vote against it.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the adoption of this bill would reverse the practice observed in the State of Pennsylvania from the first establishment of our government until the present time. In regard to the lien on judgements, up to the present time, there has been no recognition or observance of the fractional part of a day. A judgement entered at nine o'clock in the morning, when the prothonotary's office opens, has no priority over a judgment entered at three or four o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. This is a good practice. The proceeds of any sheriff's sale of real estate, realized by an execution issued upon any judgment, the judgments entered upon a certain day prorate. This is fair to all the judgment creditors. It is impossible for lawyers to so regulate their practice as to get their judgements in at nine o'clock in the morning. A half dozen or more lawyers reaching the prothonotary's office could not be waited upon at the same time, and although they were equally diligent in endeavering to secure a prior lien for their client, the large and aggressive man who would push himself forward to the entering clerk would have his judgment, his d. s. b. admitted first, and in two minutes afterwards the second man would have his d. s. b. admitted, and he would be postponed in lien to the man who had entered two minutes before. Now, that is unjust, it is not fair, and it has not been the practice in all the history of our time. Why reverse the well established order for the regulation of liens or judgments at this present time? Where is the call for it? I cannot conceive that any lawyer framed this bill, and I hope that the good sense of the gentlemen who compose this House will rally to the defeat of this measure.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me from a legal standpoint this is a good bill. There is no more reason why we should not have the same system in the prothonotary's office relative to judgements than we have in the recorder's office with respect to mortgages. If a man takes a judgments from an individual at nine o'clock in the morning and puts it on record then he should have preference over a judgment that is entered at three o'clock in the afternoon by somebody else that loaned that individual some money that same day. We have to look up in the recorder's office the mortgages because they take precedence according to the time they are entered, therefore, in my opinion we should have the same regulation in the prothonotary's office, a judgment should take precedence according to the time that it is entered therein.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with my friend from Beaver, Mr. Marshall, and Mr. Ogle says there is absolutely no reason why this bill should prevail. That is, while we all like to presume that all our officials are honest and the great percentage of them are honest, there is in this bill the opportunity of munipulating between a friendly prothonotary and the man who has a large judgment and wants preference, of munipulating the hour or the minute, as it might be, and just as Mr. Ogle says, even although you are in the office, in the case of two men arriving in the office at the same time, preference would be given to a friend, rather than to an enemy. There is too much chance for manipulation. As far as the question of time is concerned on mortgages, my friend, Mr. Rhodes, must know that that is only for the purpose of designating or differentiating between a mortgage and a purchase money mortgage. That is the only reason the date and hour is given as far as a mortgage is concerned. No other mortgages are given any preference on the same day except it is a purchase money mortgage and the hour is therefore placed on it so that they may be differentiated. I think as the two gentleman who have just spoken, this is a bad bill, and there is no reason for it.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Mr. Alexander has just covered the point on which I desired to speak. An examination of this bill reveals the fact that purchase money judgments or mortgages are not mentioned in it. Now, we as lawyers all know that a purchase money mortgage or judgment has a special preference as a lien, and to destroy that would mean the most dangerous practice that could be established in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so far as a purchaser, or a seller rather, of property would be concerned. For that reason, if for no other, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this bill should be defeated. It will wipe away the special preference given to you or to me as the seller of property by taking a purchase money mortgage, or a purchase money judgment. I also with to concur in what Mr. Ogle has said of the long established practice in this Commonwealth. I do hope that the House will vote this bill down.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 746 (Senate Bill No. 100), entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of an act approved June 27, 1895, (P. L. 403), entitled "An act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and over, prescribing his duties, and abolishing the office of county auditor in said counties."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to call your attention to this bill so there won't be any mistake. This changes the procedure at the present time. In other words, where a contract is under $100, the county commisisoners may enter into a verbal contract with the contractors. This bill permits them to enter into a verbal contract with contractors up to $300. I, for my part, can see no reason for it. It is a bad policy, it makes no difference how small the contract is, it is a bad policy not to have that contract in writing, and therefore, I can see no reason why it should be raised to $300 and why any contract, even under $100, should not be in writing. I do not know of any lawyer who would not advise his client when he came to him, to have some writing to show what that contract is. It is sure and when it comes to proof, there can be no mistake about what it was. When the commissioners are contracting for others than themselves, as they always are, it seems to me they ought to have all their contracts in writing in order to protect the county that they are representing. I can see no reason for it. It puts no additional hardship on them, because they have a solicitor, and the solicitor writes the contracts, and it need only be in short form, and will not take up much time to do it. I see no reason why this act should be extended from $100 to $300.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 749, (Senate Bill No. 194), entitled:

A Supplement to an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" providing a procedure to incur or to increase indebtedness where the existing indebtedness is less than two per centum but the amount to be incurred exceeds two per centum of the assessed value of the taxable property and providing that this act shall apply to pending proceedings

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Flynn,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 857, entitled:

An Act providing for the lapsing of unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend bill, page 2, by striking out all of section 2, including lines 17 to 25.

Amend section 3, page 2, line 26, by striking out "3" and insert in lieu thereof 2

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 833, as follows:

An Act conferring the right on the Courts of Common Pleas of various counties to permit amendment of charters of corporations of the first class so as to permit any institution of learning which shall have been incorporated as a corporation of the first class to confer appropriate degrees upon any person who shall have satisfactorily passed a required course of study of such institution of learning

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the courts of Common Pleas of any county of this Commonwealth or any Judge thereof upon petition duly presented by the directors or officers of an existing corporation of the first class incorporated for the purpose of instruction in any calling asking that their charter and rights be amended and their powers broadened so as to enable such corporation to confer appropriate degrees to persons who shall have satisfactorily passed a required course of study of such institution to grant such amendment and upon the granting of such amendment such institution of learning shall be authorized to confer appropriate degrees to any person who shall have satisfactorily passed the required course of study

Section 2 That nothing in this act shall be construed to include such institutions as are set forth particularly in the Act of General Assembly dated the twenty-sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred thirty) or any of the supplements thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GREEBY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 720, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred three, Article VII, of the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 797), entitled, "An Act to establish a Bureau of Forest Protection within the Department of Forestry; designating the officers who shall constitute the Bureau, their duties and salaries; prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; and repealing all laws, general, special, or local, or any parts thereof; that may be inconsistent with or supplied by this act," by providing for compensation for forest fire fighting on private lands listed with the Department of Forestry for forest protection.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

USE OF THE HALL OF THE HOUSE GRANTED TO THE ELECTION COMMITTEE.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the use of the Hall of the House be given for a public hearing to the Committee on Elections, on Tuesday, April 3rd, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILLEGE.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, and ladies and gentlemen of the House, when I came here this morning my attention was called to an article in one of the papers of the city of Philadelphia, in regard to the justification of the votes of certain members of this House, as to the way the dry bill, as it was called, was passed yesterday by this House. Certain members, among whom my name appeared, were branded as being "fence jumpers" for the manner in which they voted. I wish to call the attention of the writer, or the correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, in the presence of the House, to the fact that I resent such characteristic accusations as being unfair and not right. I was a "dry" member in this House always. I started to vote "dry" in 1913, and have always been "dry" since. I came here this time as a "dry", and I voted dry and I have not in any way broken a pledge with my constituency nor with my colleagues, the Democratic members of the body, and I hope to have this matter corrected before those who may misunderstand this matter.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman, under his question of privilege, will be spread upon the Journal.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will declare a recess until 4:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Whereupon, (at 1:30 o'clock P. M.) the House took a recess until 4:00 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. GOODNOUGH), in the Chair.

BILLS ON FIRST READING.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will take up the first reading calender. The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideratioin of House Bill No. 961, entitled,

An Act to exempt bequests or devices in trust for the perpetual care and preservation of burial lots or graves therein from the payment of transfer inheritance tax

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 112, entitled,

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred seven) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities co-extensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorder in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" providing for the assessment of property and the collection of taxes interest and penalties in cases of the refusal or failure of taxables to make return and in the case of false or incomplete returns

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 145, entitled,

A supplement to the act approved the seventennth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred seven) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" authorizing the payment of taxes for county and city purposes on certain investments through the use of adhesive stamps prepared by the Auditor General of the State for the use of the several counties and cities

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 709, entitled:

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

RESOLUTION RETURNED FROM GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 28, 1923.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, a resolution of the House and Senate recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 37, entitled, "A joint resolution proposing an amendment to Article 9, Section 4, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania", for the purpose of amendment.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that resolutions amending the Constitution should not be submitted to the Governor, and House Bill No. 37 was therefore filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and did not reach the Governor's office.

A similar resolution recalling House Bill No. 37 from the Secretary of the Commonwealth for the purpose of amendment has subsequently been passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

For this reason the resolution is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

RESOLUTIONS LAID ON TABLE.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be laid on the table.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 26.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Department, Harrisburg, March 28, 1923.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following resolution:

A resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 26 for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 26, passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 26 passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, lines 16 and 17, by removing the words in brackets "shall go to and be vested in the Commonwealth by escheat" following the word "personal" and insert the same in brackets following the word "intestate" in line 17.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instruction of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PRESERVATION OF WAR RECORDS.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER offered the following resolution which was read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1923.

Whereas, The preservation and protection of the records of the various wars in which the United States has been involved and of other public records pertaining to important events in the history of the country will be of great historical benefit to future generations, and

Whereas, The loss or destruction of similar records has heretofore deprived the public of valuable material for historical research; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania respectfully and earnestly urges upon Congress the necessity of enacting immediate legislation providing for the erection at Washington of a fire proof building adequate to serve as a repository for all national archives; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the President of the United States to the Vice-president, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each of the members of Congress from Pennsylvania.

PRINTING ADDITIONAL COPIES OF HOUSE BILL NO. 940.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I move that there be printed one thousand additional copies of House Bill No. 940.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, in explanation of this motion, this is a bill presented by the Commission to revise the methods of assessment and collection of taxes in the counties. The demands for it have been very large, and there is not a sufficient supply on hand to meet the demand.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS IN THE CHAIR.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 729, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one thousand one one thousand two one thousand three and one thousand four Article ten of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and ninety-seven) entitled "An act to establish a Bureau of Forest Protection within the Department of Forestry designating the officers who shall constitute the Bureau their duties and salaries prescribing penalties for the violation thereof and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts tehreof that may be inconsistent with or supplied by this act" by providing for imprisonment for default in payment of fines and costs in case of neglect of duty by fire warden refusing to aid a fire warden hindering a forest protection officer in his duties or non-abatement of a nuisance caused by maintaining a special forest fire hazard

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in looking over this bill, section 1001, as amended, seems to be an improper amendment. The amendment takes away the penalty of a misdemeanor and substitutes that of summary conviction, where a fire warden has failed to properly perform his duties and it likewise provides that where a fire warden has made a false or fradulent statement of service rendered, and thereby obtained money unquestionably by that false and fradulent representation, he is not prosecuted according to law but is only subject to the penalty of one thousand dollars in a summary conviction action. It seems to me, that where a man has committed a crime by falsification of record, he should not be permitted to get off with merely a summary conviction, but he should be prosecuted in the court of quarter sessions for a misdemeanor. We have just passed bill No. 724, which provides an increase of penalty, so that if a man sets a fire to a wood tract he is now subject to a fine of $5000.00 and ten years in jail. It has been made a felony, That has been increased, now why should we make flesh of one and fish of the other? It seems to me that if a fire warden goes bad and becomes a crook he should likewise be penalized and prosecuted in the Court of Quarter Sessions, and not merely before a justice of the peace for a summary conviction, carrying with it merely a fine of $100.00; and therfore, I say that this bill as it now stands should be defeated.

SENATE

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1923.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Father in heaven: We thank Thee for the voices of Faith and Hope and Love that have spoken to us at this Eastertide. We thank Thee for the wonderful glory that gathers about this season of the year. As we continue our life journey grant that the spirit of the Sunday that is just past may go with us; and may it strengthen and ennoble our lives: May we be better men because of what Thou hast done for us, through our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Be with us this evening. Guide the Senate as it enters on the legislative work of a new week, and may everything that shall be said and done be well-pleasing unto Thee. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to question a personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. PRESIDENT. I have received a letter from the Governor, which I desire the clerk to read:

The Clerk read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1923.

Hon. Horace W. Schantz, Chairman, Committee on Appropriations,

Senate of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Senator Schantz: I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the State Council of Education upon a State policy of higher learning. In form this report is that of a committee of the Council, but it has been approved by all Council members and is, therefore, in fact the report of the Council itself.

The recommendation of the Council that the work of the three great institutions of higher education-University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, and the Pennsylvania State College should be encouraged and continued with State assistance under a proper program is, in my opinion, sound and wise. The Council, I am informed, will later submit such a program, but because of the complexity of the subject cannot do so in time for action by the present Legislature.

I call particular attention to the recommendation of the Council that "there should be a better-working and more clearly defined cooperative relationship between the State and the several institutions thus receiving the aid of the Commonwealth."

The Council has made specific recommendations as to the amount which should be appropriated at this session to the three institutions mentioned, and to Temple University. If the Legislature in its wisdom decides to provide sufficient additional funds for educational purposes by new taxation, then I am convinced that the amounts recommended by the Council of Education for the several institutions may properly be appropriated, and if they are so appropriated, and such additional funds are provided, I should be glad to approve them.

Sincerely yours,
GIFFORD PINCHOT.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF STATE COUNCIL OF EDUCATION IN RELATION TO A STATE POLICY OF HIGHER LEARNING AS REQUESTED BY THE HONORABLE GIFFORD PINCHOT GOVERNOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

The Committee has given consideration to the communication of the twenty-third of February from Governor Pinchot relative to the formation of a State policy toward higher education in connection with his address to the Legislature on January 19, 1923, sugesting three alternative plans.

In reference to the first suggested plan by the Governor, viz:

"To build up a single great State University at heavy expense to the taxpayers for new buildings and equipment"

We do not think it in the best interest of the Commonwealth, having regard to the solution alike of the problem of higher education and of the problem of taxation necessarily related thereto, that there should be created such a "single great State University."

The second plan suggested by the Governor is the following, viz:

"To use the equipment and buildings of the three colleges and universities with corporate relations to the State—the Pennsylvania State College, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of Pittsburgh. If this second policy is to be adopted there should be a clear understanding on the part of these three institutions that its adoption carries with it their becoming integral parts of the higher educational system of the Commonwealth."

This alternative plan appeals to this committee as sound, both on the ground of economy and also of preserving historical tradition and valuable organization.

The first Constitution of the Commonwealth of 1776, expressly provided "that all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more Universities," "conformable" to which constitutional mandate "the University of the State of Pennsylvania" (1779), later changed in name to "The University of Pennsylvania" (1791)—and "to fulfill" which "important constitutional injunction" the "Western University of Pennsylvania" (1819), now "the University of Pittsburgh," were duly chartered by the State; and have since been discharging their functions and duties, in accord with this constitutional mandate, and have received from time to time the aid of the State enabling them to do so. In the long lapse of years since their creation, these two venerable universities have attained their present porportions and preeminence, in the realm of higher education; and of state-wide usefulness to the people of the Commonwealth, in the various forms of public service which through their many departments, extension schools, and other ways and means they have been and are rendering to the State. Similarly, the Pennsylvania State College (1855 and 1862) has a specific relationship to the State and has long been performing varied and valuable public service in many fields of educational endeavor, some of which are not covered by these two ancient universities. It seems to us, therefore, that the great work of these two existing universities, as well as the Pennsylvania State College, under a proper program of the State, should be encouraged and continued.

For there is room and need, we believe, for each and all of the institutions having a relationship to the State to continue to promote the cause of higher education, each in its own sphere and territorial district and in accord with their several charters—and this, with greater and more widespread benefits and advantages to the youth of the whole State of nearly 9,000,000 inhabitants, and with a less expenditure of the revenues of the Commonwealth, present and future, than by the creation, erection, structural and educational development and maintenance of another new, single State University. Professional schools will, of course, be necessary departments of such a new University, and experience has demonstrated that these professional schools to be successful must be established in large cities—as are in fact the fully functioning professional schools of the two universities mentioned. Consequently, as stated at the outset, we do not view with favor a program which contemplates the establishment of such a new single State University. It is true that under prevailing conditions, some of the western states like Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, have a single State University, but it should be remembered that the population of all three of these states combined, is less than that of Pennsylvania.

In line, therefore, with the thought before expressed, we believe that there is room and need for the State's aid, encouragement and promotion of the Liberal Arts and Sciences in each of the three present institutions having a relationship to the State (and perhaps including one or more other institutions) and that with reference to the excellent professional schools and departments now attached to and forming part of these institutions, there hereafter should be such an allocation and distribution of the Commonwealth's aid and bounty as will best promote the cause of higher profesional education in the Comonwealth, and avoid, as far as practicable, the unnecessary duplication of such professional schools and of appropriations to support and maintain the same by the State; and speaking generally and to the end in view, we think there should be a better-working and more clearly defined cooperative relationship between the State and the several institutions thus receiving the aid of the Commonwealth.

The program and policy to be adopted by the State in regard to higher education is, however, under existing conditions, a problem of such magnitude and importance, and must be viewed from so many angles, that this Committee does not feel justified in making the recommendations and report in relation thereto, requested by His Excellency, until after careful consideration and thorough study of the whole subject from these many viewpoints. Ultimately, we believe that the expression of such a program and policy in a legislative enactment will be of an epochal event in the history of the State. For reasons indicated, we regret, therefore, that we shall not be able to present such recommendation and report for submission to His Excellency at this time, but would suggest that this Council inform the Governor that a full investigation of this problem will be inaugurated at once and completed at the earliest date possible. The committee further sugests that in the interim his interlocutory report, as evidencing in a general way the trend of thought of the Council, be submitted to the Governor.

The Committee has given consideration to the appropriations which shall be made by the present legislature to the three institutions having relation to the State. In considering this question we regret that there has been neither time nor opportunity, singly or collectively, to give this subject that thorough consideration and detailed examination which it manifestly deserves and requires. We realize, moreover, that in making these recommendations the amount of the State's funds apparently available is limited and restricted, and that these recommendations accordingly must be made in recognition of and subject to these existing financial limitations. Were there adequate funds at the disposition of the legislature for higher educational purposes, comparable with those of many of our sister states, we should have felt at liberty to make much more liberal recommendations, such indeed as we really believe are in fact necessary and proper. It is the opinion of the Committee that the appropriations to these institutions for the current biennium were inadequate. Each institution denied admission to large numbers of qualified students. The work of these institutions was not as effective and successful as it would have been had more adequate appropriations been allowed. Bearing these conditions and facts in mind, therefore, and also the likely available funds, our best judgment, aided by the best actuarial advice and service obtainable, is that to the appropriations made to these institutions for general maintenance by the legislature of 1921, including a deficit of $37,600.00 to Pennsylvania State College, viz:

University of Pennsylvania	$1,230,000
University of Pittsburgh	900,000
Pennsylvania State College	2,168,600

there should be added not less than 20% as representing the actual increase in the cost of maintenance resulting largely from the extraordinary increase in student enrollment in the several institutions. The additional amount which each of these institutions would receive under the suggested increase of 20% is as follows:

University of Pennsylvania	$246,000
University of Pittsburgh	180,000
Pennsylvania State College	433,720
	859,720

We also feel it necessary and proper that special reference should be made to the inadequate salaries paid to many of the teachers and professors of these institutions. A study of salaries now paid indicates the important need of a revision upward of the salaries of many teachers and professors now very much underpaid. The Committee is of the opinion that this situation must be immediately corrected. The tables attached hereto and made a part of this report show the basis upon which this recommendation is made.

We recommend, therefore, the following appropriations to be used exclusively in making adjustments in salary increases to those most worthy and deserving:

University of Pennsylvania	$165,312
University of Pittsburgh	120,960
Pennsylvania State College	291,594
	577,866

Pennsylvania ranks No. 36, as compared with the other States of the Union, in the amount of State funds expended for agricultural research. This is a subject of vital importance to the agricultural interests of the Commonwealth. No appropriation had been made for the development of this field of work at Pennsylvania State College. The institution has been able, however, to economize in various ways so that it was able to expend during the past year about $21,000 in this field. Attached to this report is a statement showing the amount of State funds expended by 35 other states which have made appropriations for such work. In view of this situation, the Committee recommends that an appropraition of $100,000 be made to Pennsylvania State College for agricultural research.

The Committee therefore recommends that appropriations be made to these three institutions as follows:

University of Pennsylvania	$1,641,312
University of Pittsburgh	1,200,960
Pennsylvania State College	2,993,914
Total apporpriations	5,836,186
Amount appropriated for biennium 1921-1923	$ 4,511,000
Appropriations recommended over last biennum	$ 1,325,186

Doctor Russell H. Conwell, President of Temple University, appeared before the Committee and stated that the needs of the institution which he represents are temporary. He further stated that plans were being formulated which it was expected would relieve the institution from the necessity of calling for State aid after the expiration of four or five years. It is the judgment of the Committee that, in view of the type of work which this institution is performing and the very worthy and deserving people who are being served, the same appropriation should be made to this institution which was made by the Legislature of 1921, viz: $270,000.

The total appropriations recommended for higher education for the ensuing biennium are, therefore, $5,105,186.

We believe that the appropriations above suggested are not only proper but vitally necessary to enable these institutions continue to function as heretofore, and hence suggest that through the Governor the legislature be requested to make such appropriations as an irreducible minimum to each of the institutions but also we trust with such additions thereto in all the circumstances and in the light of the several communications received by the Governor from these institutions as the State's revenue may warrant.

In making these recommendations as to appropriations we have reference, of course, and as intimated above, to the appropriations presently to be made by the General Assembly for the ensuing biennium. It is proper to add, however, that while such recommendations may be helpful, it is not intended that the same or the appropriations based thereon shall be taken as a binding precedent for subsequent appropriations upon which we shall report after further serious consideration and examination.

For the informaton of the Council, the Committee calls attention to the following enrollment of students and appropriations in other states for higher education for the current year:

State	Population	University enrollment	Appro.
California	3,426,861	Cal. } 14,359 So. Cal. }	$4,943,500
Iowa	2,404,021	6,840	2,337,657
Iowa State Agr. College		5,000	1,500,000 420,000
Michigan	3,688,412	11,513	3,000,000 2,250,000
Minnesota	2,387,125	16,422	3,575,000
Wisconsin	2,632,067	11,440	3,382,834

The annual amount of the appropriations recommended for the institutions of higher education in this State for each of the ensuing two years is $3,053,093.

In the light of the facts shown in the above table, it is manifest, to use the language of the Governor in his letter to this Council under date of February twenty-third, that the State "lags far behind most of the other States" in the promotion of higher education.

The Governor, in the preparation of his budget, made the most liberal allowances to higher education which the existing revenues of the State would afford, viz: $3,870,000 To make appropriations for the support of higher education herein recommended will require an additional amount of $2,236,186.

RESOLUTION.

AUTHORIZING GOVERNOR TO APPOINT OFFICERS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AS A COMMITTEE TO REPRESENT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT THE CELEBRATION OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FOUNDING OF THE CITY OF READING, DURING THE FIRST WEEK OF OCTOBER, 1923.

Mr. NORTON offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 2, 1923.

Whereas, during the first week of October, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, the City of Reading will celebrate its one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary, and the firemen of the City of Reading and the citizens thereof will celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Volunteer Fire Department of said city, and

Whereas, it is the wish of the officials and citizens of the City of Reading that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth be represented at this celebration, therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized to appoint the officers of the Senate and House of Representatives as a committee to represent the General Assembly at the celebration of the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the City of Reading, during the first week of October, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

Mr. NORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

JOINT SESSION OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 2, 1923.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly I should like to address the members in joint session on Tuesday, April third, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, at twelve o'clock noon.

If for any reason this cannot be conveniently arranged, I would be glad to address you at some other time.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, In compliance with the Governor's request I move that the Senate attend the meeting of the General Assembly which will be held in the hall of the House of Representatives at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. LONG, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 492, on second reading, entitled:

An Act regulating the operation of billiard and pocket billiard establishments and defining the persons who may be present therein be recommitted to the committee on Judiciary General

Mr. DERRICK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I hope that the Senate will not agree to this motion to recommit this bill. I doubt if anything can be done in committee to change the bill. If the bill will be on third reading and final passage tomorrow and if it should not pass, if there are Senators who desire to vote against it, it will be perfectly proper to vote that way. I do not think there would be any good purpose served by recommitting the bill to a committee, and, therefore, I hope that this motion will not prevail, but that the bill will pass second reading now and then it will be on final passage tomorrow.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President there is a law in Pennsylvania at the present time that minors may not frequent pool rooms or billiard rooms in Pennsylvania. There are several special laws in certain counties in Pennsylvania which forbid boys under twenty one years to frequent those places. This bill is intended to repeal those laws. In my judgment it is a question of whether it can be done in that way and it ought to be considered, it seems to me, by the Judiciary General Committee. The law undertakes to say that it is lawful for boys between eighteen and twenty-one to frequent pool rooms. In my judgment it is not a good thing for the Senate of Pennsylvania and the House of Representatives and the Governor to go on record in a law stating that a pool room is the proper place for boys between eighteen and twenty-one. You will notice the distinction in this sort of legislation. It is not legislation permitting something, but it undertakes to say if it is finally passed by the legislative body and signed by the Governor, that it is a lawful and proper place for boys to be. The moral element in the proposition, it seems to me, is wrong. They might as well talk about legislation as to what is the proper thing for people to eat, or something of that sort. It seems to me that this act ought to be considered by the Committee on Judiciary General on the Constitutional question and it ought to be very carefully considered on the moral question and not pass the bill without very careful consideration on the part of the Committee.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, this bill has been in committee and it has been considered by that committee. We fought it out and it is now on the calendar on second reading. I do not think this is the time to enter into a discussion of the merits or demerits of this bill. It will be on third reading to-morrow. I do not think the bill can be amended so as to overcome the objection of the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Long. I think it has to stand as it is now written and it might just as well be so considered on third reading and final passage to-morrow. If it is not a proper bill, of course, those opposed to it will vote against it. I still think that this bill should not be recommitted, that it should be passed on second reading tonight and be on final passage tomorrow.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I have spoken with the gentleman who introduced the bill and he understands it is to go back to the Committee on Judiciary General.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM JUDGES OF THE COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS OF PHILADELPHIA COUNTY, RELATIVE TO COUNTY INDUSTRIAL FARM WORKHOUSE.

The CHAIR laid before the Senate communication from the Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of Philadelphia, which was read as follows and referred to the committee on Judiciary General.

March 21, 1923.
Court of Common Pleas No. 3, Philadelphia.

Hon. David J. Davis, Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, held March 2, 1923, the undersigned was directed to inform the President of the Senate, that the Judges had under consideration the question of the establishment of a County Industrial Farm Workhouse under the Act of 1917, P. L. 1151; that they had reached the conclusion that under that statute the establishment of such an institution was impracticable; and that, in their opinion, it is highly important and advisable that there should be some legislation providing for an institution in which prisoners could be more regularly employed than they are under the present system.

Respectfully yours,
Wm. C. Ferguson, Secretary.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

Rev. H. Franklin Schlegel, Ph. D., executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of Church Extension of the Evangelical Church offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, eternal Jehovah, humble and reverently we come into Thy presence to worship Thee. We thank Thee that Thou art the rewarder of them that diligently seek Thee. We thank Thee, O God, for the blessings that have been ours as a nation. We thank Thee for the blessings that we have enjoyed as individuals.

We come into Thy presence now, to pray that Thy blessing may attend us in all the labors of our hands. We thank Thee for our nation's place among the nations of the earth. We pray Thy blessing upon the President of the United States and those associated with him. We pray Thy blessing upon our State and all its people; upon the Governor of the Commonwealth; upon this House, these men and women called to serve Thee as they serve the people. In all their labors, wilt Thou direct them.

Grant that the words of our mouth and the meditation of our hearts may be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord, our strength and our Redeemer. Attend us by Thy spirit, enlighten us by Thy truth, and in all Things, our God, may we so discharge the tasks of our hands that Thine approval may be upon us and that blessing may come to those whom we are called to serve. Pardon all our sins, keep us in fellowship with Thee, and direct us by Thy counsel.

We ask it in the name of Thy Son, Jesus Christ, to whom, together with Thee and the Holy Spirit, will we give praise now and eternally. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 281.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 29, 1923.

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 281, entitled "An Act to amend Section two of Article sixteen of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and eighty-one) entitled 'An Act for the better government of cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania' ".

This Bill provides for one Councilman in the City of Philadelphia for every 70,000 of population, as against one Councilman for every 40,000 assessed voters as provided in the charter. Census population is ascertained once in ten years. This Bill provides that the number of Councilmen shall depend upon a decennial census. Assessments are made far more frequently. Therefore a Council based on assessed voters will more accurately represent the voting strength of the city than that which this Bill provides.

It is objected that the assessments are incorrect. This is a reason for correcting the assessments, but not, in my opinion, for changing the basis of Councilmanic representation.

Parts of the City of Philadelphia which, when the census of 1920 was taken, were sparsely settled, are rapidly increasing in population. Under the Bill they would be derived of their proper representation in the Council until returns from the census of 1930 could be compiled and published.

The charter adopted by Philadelphia in 1919 had for one of its prinpipal purposes to secure a small Council instead of the previous large one. This Bill would increase the present Council of 21 to 26 would to that extent defeat the purpose of the charter, and would unquestionably open the way to further increases by legislation hereafter.

In addition to the greater expense and greater unwieldiness of the larger Council provided in this Bill, no demand for this legislation is apparent from the great body of those whose lives are controlled and conditioned by the Philadelphia charter. It has not been made clear to me that any advantage would accrue to the people of Philadelphia from the operation of this law. If that is true, it is a sufficient reason for withholding my approval.

For these reasons the Bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary, notwithstanding?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the Sponsor of this bill, I would move that the action on the bill, together with the veto, be postponed for the present.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 159.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 29, 1923.

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 159, entitled "An Act regulating the location of certain stables in cities of the first class and providing penalties."

This Bill provides that no stable large enough to accommodate more than fifty horses at one time shall be erected in cities of the first class within 800 feet of any public playground, school, church or other place of public worship having a seating capacity for more than 100 persons.

There is no apparant reason for the arbitrary standard whereby under the Bill it would be permitted to erect a stable large enough for fifty horses but not permitted to erect one large enough for fifty-one horses. The same is true of the arbitrary fixing of 800 feet as the distance from certain grounds and buildings.

The courts have held in analogous cases that an arbitrary distance cannot be used as a test of reasonableness or necessity in determining a question of a nuisance, but that the condition of the place and the surrounding circumstances alone can furnish a suitable test. What is true of distance is evidently true of the number of horses involved. Moreover, why not protect schools and churches having a seating capacity of less than 100 persons, and why ignore places where people live and select as the test places where people are found less frequntly and, therefore, would be less affected by an alleged nuisance?

The provisions of the Bill apply only to cities of the first class. The Constitution of the State in Article III, Section 7, provides:

"The General Assembly shall not pass any local or special laws regulating the affairs of cities."

The Supreme Court has held that

"The underlying principle of all the cases is that classification, with the view of legislating for either class separately, is essentially unconstitutional, unless a necessity therefor exists, a necessity springing from manifest peculiarities, clearly distinguishing those of one class from each of the other classes, and imperatively demanding legislation for each class separately, that would be useless and detrimental to the others." (Ashworth vs. Pittsburgh Rys. Co., 231 Penna. 539.)

"Tested by these principles, it does not appear that the subject of the statute under consideration falls within the purpose for which cities may properly be classified." (Chalmers vs. City of Phila. 250 Penna. 251; referring to the above cited Ashworth case.)

If the erection of certain stables within the limits of a city of the first class requires legislative control, such control is equally needed in cities of the second or third class. It is apparant that no substantial difference exists between cities of various classes which can afford a genuine basis for classification along such lines; and in the absence of such difference "imperatively demanding legislation" for cities of the first class this Bill would undoubtedly be held unconstitutional.

This Bill violates the principles of home rule. Philadelphia is abundantly able to protect its citizens against nuisances through its own ordinances. And furthermore the courts afford adequate protection against them.

This Bill is clearly intended to hamper the City of Philadelphia in erecting the stables necessary for cleaning its own streets itself. That alone would be reason enough for returning it without approval.

For these reasons the Bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor notwithstanding?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. DRINKHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE.

Mr. LAUVER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Health and Sanitation be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 62, pink file folio 539, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and three) entitled "An act to provide for the more effectual protection of the public health in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth" as amended exempting children of certain parents from vaccination and that the same be placed upon the calendar.

Mr. ALLEN J. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Juniata.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Juniata, Mr. Lauver, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAUVER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. STEEDLE. I should like to ask the gentleman from Juniata if he is not a member of the Public Health and Sanitation Committee.

Mr. LAUVER. I am, yes sir.

Mr. STEEDLE. Then, Mr. Speaker, I should further like to interrogate the gentleman, whether he has attended all the meetings of the Health and Sanitation Committee.

Mr. LAUVER. I did, yes sir.

Mr. STEEDLE. What disposition, to your knowledge, was made of this bill?

Mr. LAUVER. I didn't understand that there was any disposition made.

Mr. STEEDLE. Then, as a member of that committee, I think you are doing an absolute injustice not only to the chairman of the committee but to the personnel of its membership.

Mr. LAUVER. In what way?

Mr. STEEDLE. Why, by not coming to the committee meetings and there stating your argument before the committee.

Mr. LAUVER. This bill was introduced into the House on January 23rd, and it was followed, the meetings were followed by a public hearing which was announced for four weeks later, that was the 20th of March. Now, we have waited two weeks since and have had no further meetings, and we feel that we did not get very fair treatment at that public hearing.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to say a word to the gentleman. In my twelve years in this House, or six sessions, any time that I had a bill in the committee, or the committee of which I was a member, I was always gentlemanly enough and honorable enough to make my argument before that committee, and not come upon the floor of the House and insult the dignity and the honesty of any member of that committee.

MOTION LAID UPON THE TABLE.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this motion be laid upon the table.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

(d) Any individual entering the Military or Naval forces after the eleventh day of November one thousand nine hundred and eighteen for any period after such entrance

(e) Any member of the Public Health Service for any period during which he was not detailed for duty with the Army or the Navy

(f) Any individual granted a farm or industrial furlough for the period of such furlough

(g) Any individual detailed for work in the Spruce Production Division of the Air Service for the period during which his pay was equalized to conform to the pay of civilian employees in the same or like employment

Section 5 In computing the compensation of any veteran under this act effect shall be given to all subdivisions of section four which are applicable

Section 6 For the purpose of section three in the case of members of the National Guard or the National Guard Reserve called into service by proclamation of the President the time of service between the date of call into service as specified in such proclamation and the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred and seventeen both dates inclusive shall be deemed to be active service in the Military or Naval forces of the United States Provided That in case of members of the National Guard or National Guard Reserve called into the service by proclamation of the President before the sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seventeen active service in the Military or Naval forces of the United States for the purpose of this act shall be deemed to commence on the sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seventeen

Section 7 Application for compensation shall be made to the Adjutant General on such forms and in such manner as he shall prescribe and shall be made on or before the thirtieth day of June of the year following the approval of the bond issue authorizing the increase in the bonded indebtedness of the Commonwealth for this specific purpose and if not made on or before such date shall be held void

All applications shall be made (1) personally by the veteran or (2) in case of physical or mental incompetency preventing the making of a personal application then by such representative of the veteran as the Adjutant General shall by regulation prescribe An application made by a representative other than one authorized by such regulation shall be held void

Section 8 All applicants shall state on their application whether or not they have applied for or received a bonus gratuity or compensation of a nature similar to that provided for by this act from any other State in the Union

Section 9 In the case of veterans who died while in the Military or Naval forces of the United States before the twelfth day of November one thousand nine hundred and eighteen the amount of compensation payable under this act shall be computed up to and including the eleventh day of November one thousand nine hundred and eighteen

Section 10 In case of the death of any veteran who would if living be entitled to compensation under this act the same shall be paid to the following persons in the order named and none other (a) surviving wife or husband (b) surviving child and if there be more than one child surviving then equally among such children (c) surviving mother (d) surviving father

Section 11 Every person making application for compensation as herein provided shall set forth in his application the names and addresses of all persons who under this act would be entitled to receive the same in the event of the death of the applicant and if such applicant shall die before the payment of such compensation then such application shall be deemed to inure to the benefit of the person or persons next entitled thereto and payment shall be made to such person or persons upon proof of identity satisfactory to the Adjutant General If all persons designated herein as entitled to compensation shall die before payment thereof the right to the compensation shall cease and determine Application for compensation made in behalf of minor children shall be made by the duly appointed guardian of such children or by any persons who stands in loco parentis to such minor children

Section 12 No sum payable under this act to a veteran or to his beneficiaries as shown in section ten shall be subjected to attachment levy or seizure under any legal or equitable process and shall be exempt from all State taxation No right to compensation under the provisions of this act shall be assignable or serve as a security for any loan nor be regarded as the assets of the estate of a deceased veteran nor be made the basis of administration thereof Any assignment or loan made in violation of the provisions of this section shall be held void The Adjutant General shall not direct the payment nor shall payment be made under this act to any persons other than the veteran or his beneficiaries as set forth in section ten or such representatives of the veteran as the Adjutant General shall by regulation prescribe

Section 13 Any person who charges or collects or attempts to charge or collect either directly or indirectly any fee or other compensation for assisting in any manner a veteran in obtaining any of the benefits to which he is entitled under the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for not more than one year or both at the discretion of the court This provision shall not apply to the fees authorized by law that may be collected by a notary public or other officer having power to administer oaths for necessary affidavits required under this act

Section 14 The Adjutant General shall as soon as practicable after the approval of this act prepare and publish a pamphlet or pamphlets containing a digest and explanation of the provisions of this act accompanied by such statements as he believes may be of assistance to the veterans in filing their applications and shall from time to time prepare and publish such additional or supplementary information as may be found necessary

The said pamphlet or pamphlets shall be distributed in such manner as the Adjutant General may determine to be most effective to inform veterans of their rights under this act

Section 15 Immediately upon the passage of this act the Adjutant General shall ascertain the individuals who are veterans as defined in section two and as to each veteran the number of months of service as defined in section three for which he is entitled to receive compensation and his decisions shall be final and not subject to review In all cases not within the express purview of this act the decision of the Adjutant General as to payment or non-payment of compensation or eligibility therefor shall be in all things final

Section 16 No payments under this act shall be made before the first day of January of the second year following the approval of the bond issue authorizing the increase of the bonded indebtedness of the Commonwealth for this specific purpose but all payments shall be made as soon thereafter as practicable

Section 17 Whoever knowingly makes any false or fraudulent statement of a material fact in any application certificate or document made under the provisions of this act or of any regulation made by the Adjutant General in administering this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or undergo imprisonment of not more than five years or both at the discretion of the court

Section 18 For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth is charged with the administration thereof and for that purpose he shall prepare and distribute application blanks investigate all claims and applications filed with him and if satisfied of the proof of such claim or application approve the same and direct payment thereof and shall make any regulations necessary to the efficient administration of the provisions of this act

The books papers and records together with the filing cases and equipment procured and used in the administration of this act shall become a part of the permanent records of the office of the Adjutant General

Section 19 All printing necessary to carry out the provisions of this act shall be done by the State Printer on the requisition of the Adjutant General to the Department of Public Printing and Binding

Section 20 The Adjutant General may employ the necessary clerical help and fix their salaries and pay for postage and other expenses incurred in the administration of this act In all appointments under this act preference shall so far as practicable be given to veterans

Section 21 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not effect or impair any of the remaining provisions of the act It is hereby declared as a legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 22 For the purpose of paying for the clerical services postage and other necessary expenses incurred by the Adjutant General in the administration of this act the sum of four hundred and sixty-two thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars ($462,625.00) or as much thereof as may be necessary is specifically appropriated from funds to be hereafter provided for the payment of the compensation provided for by this act

Section 23 The compensation payable under this act shall be paid only in the event that funds are provided by a Constitutional amendment authorizing the State to increase its bonded indebtedness for this specific purpose

Section 24 The act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred and seventy-eight) entitled "An act providing a bonus for the residents of this Commonwealth who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War creating a Soldiers' Bonus Commission and prescribing its powers and duties and making an appropriation" is hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 857, as follows:

An Act providing for the lapsing of unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter unless otherwise specifically stated in the act making the appropriation the unexpended or unencumbered balances of all appropriations made for any purposes whatsoever shall lapse at the end of the day of May thirty-first of the second year following that in which the appropriations are made by the legislature and for this purpose the Auditor General and the State Treasurer shall consider as lapsed or as having reverted to the State Treasury under the terms hereof all such balances in appropriations as are not covered by requisitions filed in the Auditor General's Office on or before August first of the second year after that in which the appropriations are made by the legislature or which are not otherwise encumbered Such balances remaining in appropriations shall be regarded as unencumbered unless notices of encumbrances thereon together with satisfactory details thereof shall be filed with the Auditor General and State Treasurer by the proper official or officials on or before August first of the second year following that in which the appropriations are made

Any contracts or agreements encumbering appropriations notices of which encumbrances have been previously given to the Auditor General and State Treasurer according to the terms hereof must be completed and requisitions in the usual form filed in the Auditor General's office on or before May thirty-first of the fourth year following that in which the appropriations are made Otherwise the amounts represented by such notices of encumbrances shall likewise lapse and shall be no longer available for the purposes for which appropriated

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House as there seems to be some misunderstanding about the provisions of this bill, I feel that it is only fair to make a brief explanation. This bill as originally introduced provided, for the lapse of all appropriations, with a view of cleaning up a very much mixed situation in regard to the appropriations that have been hanging fire for a number of years, but which have not been drawn upon. A great deal of opposition arose to that proposition, particularly, with reference to the appropriations to the Highway Department. Therefore it was deemed expedient to amend the bill so that it does not apply to the appropriations made heretofore, and the provisions of this bill will now not become effective until at the end of the next succeeding biennium. In other words, it will be two years before the provisions of this bill become effective, and there after all appropriations not used or contracted for will lapse at the end of each session. I wish, particularly, to make it clear that this bill does not affect the appropriations to the Highway Department, or for other purposes heretofore made.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Horne.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 515, entitled:

An Act liminating rent as a preferred claim

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill was called up on the twenty-seventh and there was some objection to it. That objection has been satisfied, and I believe those who asked this question are favorable to the bill now.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been giving considerable thought to this bill since it was before the House some weeks ago, and it seems to me that there is a danger that the gentleman from Cambria has not considered. This means that the landlord's preference is limited to three months. Now, in the last two or three years I have personally known of a number of cases of small business where, if landlord's preference had been limited to three months, the landlord would have been obliged to put the concern out of business in order to save his rent, but if he were to be given a longer preference, he would be giving the business a chance to establish itself, and I would like to ask the gentleman whether he has considered that feature in this bill. Might it not be the means of forcing small business, with a small capital, out of business if it gives the landlord but three months preference and of obliging the landlord to be more stringent than he otherwise would be under the present law.

Mr. HORNE. In answer to my friend, Mr. Edmonds, that question has been considered, but any other claim either for merchandise, for rent, for lawyers' fee, or any other claim has a preference of three months in advance by contract, except the landlord's claim. Those who approve this bill are really the credit associations of this State, and they feel that the preference there is quite great enough for the landlord. If it is purely a matter of leniency, there is no more reason for the landlord to have preference beyond three months than the lawyer or the doctor or the merchant or the butcher. I believe this bill is absolutely fair to the landlord. As one who rents houses, not very many of them, I feel that it is perfectly fair to me, and I think every other man who wishes only what he ought to have, his fair share of the amount of assets for any claim, should consider this bill as it is.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I am not interested at all from the point of view of the landlord, but I am very much interested from the point of view of the tenant; I am particularly interested from the point of view of the man who has established a business with a small capital. It seems to me that the man under this act would be placed in such a position that the landlord could not extend indulgence to him, and therefore it seems to me that it would be a hard thing for the man who has started in business with a small capital. In answering the argument of the credit association, I read with a great deal of attention the latter coming from the credit men's association commenting this bill, but it seems to me we must look at it on a broader basis. It is not a question of what is good for the credit man, or a landlord, it is a question of what is good for general business conditions throughout the State, and my feeling is that it is a good thing, particularly for the small trader, to have a law that enables the landlord to give the indulgence that he deserves.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, may I be indulged the floor again? I see that Mr. Edmonds is basing his argument on the humanitarian side, which is very fine of Mr. Edmonds. However, he is citing a specific case, and not a general case. The man would be the exception who would desire to ask a landlord to indulge him over a period of more than three months, fearing that to do so would mean an absolute loss to the landlord. I think it would be entirely unfair either to a small or large businessman to expect any landlord to carry him over a period of more than three months, and this will not give lee-way to the landlord to take all his assets instead of allowing some of his other creditors to have some of it in case of failure. I think this allows plenty of lee-way to the landlord and is giving him preference, not only for rent in arrears, but by contract for three months, which is not offered to any other claim. I should like to have the men of this House vote for this act. I believe it is fair and right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me there is another point of view in this bill and that is this: A man is a tenant, and there is nobody in the world who will know the condition of that tenant's financial affairs better than the landlord. Now, there is no reason why that land lord should leave that tenant go along for four or five months, or six months, and thereby holding out to the people at large, who are selling him merchandise, that he is in good standing, because if a man goes along without the landlord's collecting his rent, you or I or someone else who is selling merchandise to that man has a right to believe that his financial standing is in good shape. Now, as I say, there is nobody in a better position to know that man's financial standing than the landlord, and it is not right for that landlord, he is not doing justice to his tenant, nor justice to the man who is extending credit, to permit him to go for a longer term than three months. If a man cannot pay his first two months, or at least three months rent, then he had better quit right there before he beats somebody else. I think this is a good bill. I believe three months is plenty of time to extend to the man, and if the man is renting and cannot pay three months rent, he is only getting deeper in the mud every day after the thre months.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am opposed to this bill because I think it is a bad bill, a vicious bill in many respects. There is another point of view which the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, has not touched. I have been a landlord and I have had cases where I had in my experience of some twenty-five years people who rented houses from me, who were sick and unable to pay their rent. I have had cases where I have had men who owed me nine and ten months rent, and surely it would be a hardship, and no landlord with a heart would want to put that man out. I waited for the man to get well and then took my chance of the man's paying me. In nearly every case the men paid me their arrearages. Now, in my section very frequently I have heard of other landlords who have been kind-hearted enough to allow their tenants to pass along a rent arrearage six months to a year. I understand that in case of renting farms, a gentleman back of me just suggested, that in renting a farm by the year, that they can only collect rent on an arrearage of three months. I think it is absolutely unfair. I think the bill is vicious, and I hope it is defeated.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Perry,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 833, entitled:

An Act conferring the right on the Courts of Common Pleas of various counties to permit amendment of charters of corporations of the first class, so as to permit any institution of learning, which shall have been incorporated as a corporation of the first class, to confer appropriate degrees upon any person who shall have satisfactorily passed a required course of study of such institution of learnings.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question?

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Millar,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 690, entitled:

An Act requiring the judges of all courts of record to render their decisions within six months after the trial or argument of a case or after a petition is presented

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Millar permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLAR. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire the sponsor of the bill to explain its purpose.

Mr. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, as stated in the bill the purpose is to require the judges to give their decision on petitions, rules, motions and other causes within six months of the date of trial or hearing.

Mr. RHODES. Supposing it is physically impossible for the court to do that?

Mr. MILLAR. I cannot imagine any case in which they would be physically unable to do that.

Mr. RHODES. Does it apply to all courts, common pleas superior and supreme courts?

Mr. MILLAR. All courts of record.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me a bill of this sort is very arbitrary and imposes unnecessary legislation upon the judges of all of our courts. Conditions may arise when the judges of the higher courts as well as the judges of the courts of common pleas and orphan's court are not able for many reasons to render their decisions within a period of six months. It seems to me that we should allow the judges to use their own discretion in these matters. Every one of these judges attempts to render his decision as quickly as possible and they all like to get them up and get their calendar cleared. It seems to me this is imposing an unnecessary limitation upon their decisions.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman who has just addressed you, and it does not seem to me that the legislature should put any restriction upon our courts. My experience has been and I have been in other courts besides our own county, and the judges of other counties have been in our county recently trying cases, that the judges try to get their decisions out as quickly as they possibly can. There may have been times when we have had to wait longer for our decisions than we thought we ought to, but we must not forget that those judges are sworn to do their duty just the same as you and I, and I do not think it is proper for the legislature, without knowing the reason or without knowing anything that is moving our court, that we should make a hard and fast rule that those courts have to file their opinions within a limited time. I feel that our judges in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I know a great many of them,—I have enough confidence in all of them to believe they will do what is just and proper, and that justice will be properly meted out without any restrictions being put on them by the legislature.

Mr. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I have the utmost confidence in the integrity and determination on the part of most of the judges to expeditiously render decisions, but the fact remains that in some instances decisions are so long held up that litigants are deprived of valuable property rights because of delay. Now it would seem from the remarks of the previous speakers that the rights of a couple of hundred of judges in Pennsylvania are to be made paramount to the rights of eight millions of people who may or may not be litigants in the courts of Pennsylvania, nor the rights of the citizens of the State to a proper administration of justice. It seems to me there is no logical reason why a judge within that time should not hand down his decision. There are cases in the Courts of the county from which I come pending for years and undecided, and still that might not be general throughout the Commonwealth, but as I said before the fact still remains that there are many undecided cases where property rights are involved and citizens suffer because the decisions have not been rendered or cannot be rendered. I think the bill is entitled to the consideration of the House and should be passed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Millar.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Millar, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLAR. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what would happen if a judge did not hand down his decision, notwithstanding this Act of Assembly, within six months?

Mr. MILLAR. There is no penalty in the act. You know that as well as I do. If you want to put a penalty in it, I will be glad to amend the bill to make it a penal offense.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Would the gentleman amend the bill then so that in criminal cases the attorney for the defendant could file his opinion for him, and in civil cases the attorney for the complainant could file it?

Mr. MILLAR. I would prefer not to be ridiculous.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Don't you think the bill is ridiculous in the first place?

Mr. MILLAR. No, but I think some of your remarks are.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill seems to have forgotten the form of government under which we live. We have the executive, the judicial, and legislative. Neither has the right to trespass upon the perogatives of the other branches of the government. This is an attempt on the part of the legislature to inform the judiciary how it shall perform its duties. Decisions, according to the legislature, must be handed down by a judge inside of six months. We might as well, with as much propriety, have the judges of the supreme court step into the legislative halls and say, "Gentlemen, you must perform the duties of your office within sixty days". It is ridiculous and an absurdity. The judges are an independent body, acting upon their own initiative in the conduct of their office. This bill, as it is drawn, is a very harmless document in that it has no teeth, no means of enforcing it; it could not be taken in any other way than advisory, and it is advice not asked for and which would not be needed when given. Gentlemen, I think that as legislators we will be standing within our own rights and preserving the dignity and respect of the judiciary of this Commonwealth by defeating this measure.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Guerin.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 61, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, (P. L. 344), entitled "An act relating to husband and wife, enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property, to sue and be sued, and to make a last will, and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases;" authorizing a married women to mortgage her real property without the joinder of her husband.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Guerin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUERIN. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to explain the difference between the provisions of this bill and the provisions in the bill introduced by his colleague, Mrs. Pitts, which was recently passed by this House.

Mr. GUERIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill permits a woman having property in her own right to mortgage it, and the bill introduced by Mrs. Pitts takes away from the man the right which he now has to mortgage his own property.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to explain what position we would be in if you pass this act, in view of the passage of the prior act.

Mr. GUERIN. I would like to answer the gentleman in the course of my remarks on the bill.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the sponsor of the bill, if he desires to answer the question.

Mr. GUERIN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I desire to give you a short history, in the explanation of this bill, of why it was put on the postponed calendar several times. There came into my office one day a woman whom I know to be a hard worker, and she desired to purchase a home. She paid a deposit on the home and wanted to raise a mortgage. She was asked the name of her husband and she gave it, and after the title was passed and the papers were drawn she was asked by the attorney to bring her husband to the office to sign the papers. She said, "I do not think I can do that because he deserted me several years ago." He said, "I am very sorry but you cannot have a mortgage because the law of this state prevents a married woman from creating a mortgage unless signed by the husband." I was induced by that very circumstance, and one of a similar nature, to introduce this bill. After the bill was introduced it passed first and second reading without any opposition whatever.

Upon the request of one of the members of the House I voluntarily requested that this bill be referred back to the Committee on Judiciary General. This was done. I came before that committee and a request was made that a postponement be had for two weeks, and a statement was made at that time that the judges of the common pleas courts of Philadelphia and the trust companies of Philadelphia were opposed to this bill. When the two weeks arrived, nobody appeared against the bill at all, but in the meantime I desired to find out if they were opposed to it, and if that were so, I would not push the bill any further. So I wrote to a well known woman in the city of Philadelphia, Mrs. J. Willis Martin, and with your permission I will read her answer: "Thank you very much for your letter. Mr. Martin and I are both in favor of married women having the right to mortgage their real estate. Mr. Martin gives his reason for favoring this bill in his letter which I enclose." And this is the letter from Judge Martin, of the court of common pleas No. 5: "In view of the political privileges that have now been extended the women, there seems to be no reasonable cause for restraining them in the disposition of their property." I wrote to several of the trust companies, and I have here the answers of the title officers of several of these companies. The first is the Land Title and Trust Company, which reads as follows: "Replying to your favor of the 15th inst., I beg to say that the bill in question, which proposes to establish equality betwen husband and wife in the matter of mortgages of real estate, appears to me to be a very excellent bill. While the old argument of the ease with which a woman can be imposed upon is still available, as against the bill, this is a theory which has long been exploded. There might be many excellent arguments advanced in favor of equalizing the sexes by requiring the signature of both husband and wife in mortgages of real estate owned by either party, but the bill in question seems to me to follow more nearly the trend of modern opinion, and should be passed." This is signed by the title officer of the company. I have here a similar letter, with a similar statement, which I will not impose on the House, signed by the president of the People Trust Company, Henry R. Robins. I also have one from the Real Estate Title Insurance and Trust Company, signed by Mr. Cowdrick, who has been for over twenty years the title officer of that company. Also a letter from the Mutual Trust Company.

I was told that this law would come in conflict with the laws of other states. To make sure that I was not doing anything contrary to them, I wrote to the Attorney General of New York, and I have his answer here: "I am in receipt of your favor of the 14th inst., advising me that you have presented to the House of Representatives of your State a bill allowing the wife to mortgage her own property without the joinder of her husband. You further state that a man has that right now but a woman has not and you ask me to advise you what the law on this subject is in the state of New York. Replying will say that a wife has a right to sell and convey any or all of her property, both real and personal, at any time without the joinder of her husband." I have a similar letter from the state of Ohio, office of the Attorney General, signed by the Attorney General, with practically the same answer. It is not quite the same in Ohio, where the law says, "A married person may take, hold and dispose of property, real or personal, the same as if unmarried." I further have here the endorsement of the Department of Charities, which among other bills, have endorsed House Bill No. 61, which is now under consideration. I also have from a former attorney general, Francis Shunk Brown, his letter of endorsement, and Barclay H. Warburton, the Director of Public Welfare of Philadelphia, also endorses it. I have another letter for which I ask your indulgence to read. I read it to a member of this House the other day and he said to me that, if for no other reason, because of this letter he would vote for the bill. The letter is as follows: "We noted with interest the introduction in the House of your bill allowing a woman to mortgage her property without consent of her husband. We are very anxious to have this bill become a law. I don't wish to take up your valuable time but would like to cite as an example a neighbor, a fine old lady who inherited a farm from her father and has supported a lazy, disagreeable husband for years. She had made a good sale of her farm, but her husband would not sign the deed, nor could she mortgage it to get the money she much needed for hospital and other expenses so necessary in her old age. There are thousands of similar cases in the State, so we are sincerely hoping that the House and Senate pass this bill which will give a woman the same rights that her husband now has."

In answer to the gentleman who asked the question as to how this bill relates to the other bill introduced by Mrs. Pitts, I would say that after this bill had passed second reading it was reported out of the judiciary committee at a time when I was not present, and a motion was made to place it on the postponed calendar. I went to the sponsor of the other bill and asked if there was not some common ground upon which we could meet or if she had an alternative to propose it. However, that bill was passed by the House, went over to the Senate and went into the Judiciary General Committee. Upon inquiry there, I have found that the bill has been indefinitely postponed and I have been told that it cannot become a law, so that if you do not pass this bill giving the married women this right, the old law shall continue that inequality, that is to say that men shall have the right to mortgage their property and the women will not have that right. In conclusion, I would ask you members to vote in support of this bill and give to every free American-born woman that right which is now given to foreign-born, unnaturalized aliens now living in this state.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, in the beginning, I want it distinctly and clearly understood that I am just as much in favor of the women having their full consideration under the Constitution as any other man. I interrogated the sponsor of the bill not in a spirit of opposition to the provisions of the bill but because of the confusion which I am afraid is going to exist if we pass this bill after the passage of the other bill. For the benefit of the members of the House who are not members of the legal profession, I think a word of explanation as to what we are trying to do in this bill should be made. Under our laws at the present time we have a provision that a married woman cannot become an accommodation endorser, maker guarantor or surety for another without the joinder of her husband. On the other hand, under the present law a man can mortgage his property, even though married, without the joinder of his wife, and that mortgage is absolutely valid. After the passage of the amendment, at the beginning of this session, the members realized the unfairness of this situation, and two bills have been introduced to meet that situation. One of them, that introduced by Mrs. Pitts, of Philadelphia, provides that in order for a mortgage to be valid the husband and wife must join, regardless of which one owns the property. We passed that bill a few days ago. This bill provides that the wife can mortgage the property without the joinder of her husband. Supposing we pass this and supposing the Senate passes both of them and both are signed by the Governor—which I am very well satisfied he would not do—but supposing they were both passed and signed by him, and we must pass them on the assumption that he will sign them, what position are we going to be in? This is what we have: We have one bill passed saying that no mortgage is valid unless the husband and wife join; then we have another statute on the books which says that the wife can mortgage her property alone without the joinder of her husband, and we would be put in the position of repealing an act that we passed a few days ago. That is my only purpose in interrogating the sponsor of this bill. Of the two bills introduced, in principle and fairness to the parties concerned, I think the bill introduced by Mrs Pitts expresses the fundamental principle which should be covered in the passing of such legislation. Let them both join in the mortgage so that neither one gets this mortgage because of family trouble.

Another matter which we are discussing is this in the second paragraph it retains the old provisions of the law which is now the law that she may not become accommodation endorser, maker, guarantor or surety for another and may not execute or acknowledge a deed or other written instrument conveying her real property unless her husband join in such conveyance. If we pass this bill as it is drafted, giving her the power to mortgage the property without the joinder of the husband, it simply gives her the power indirectly to do the things which the second paragraph of the bill says she shall not do, namely, become an endorser, maker and so forth. I have no opposition in principle to the bill, but the things we are aiming to accomplish should be done in such a way that we will not come to a point where we cannot and do not know what we have.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I have spent a great deal of time in trying to work out a situation that would equalize the difference between a husband and wife with reference to dealing in real estate, and I feel a great deal like the gentleman who has just spoken, for two reasons. The first is that two weeks ago we passed a bill that settled this matter in one way. How can we pass a bill that settles it in a different way in two weeks time, thereby sending over to the Senate two contradictory pieces of legislation, both of which will have the sanction of the majority of the members of the House? First we pass by a large majority a bill which provides that the husband and wife both must sign in order to legalize a mortgage. Now we are asked to pass another bill whereby the signature of one is sufficient. It seems to me that this whole circumstance is premature while the other bill is pending in the Senate, and having voted for one bill it seems to me it would be contradictory to settle it in another way while the first bill is still pending. In the second place, the question of remedy, which my friend from Philadelphia suggests in this bill is bound to have a harmful effect upon some others, and that is one of the things we are all interested in. The husband and wife, according to this bill, may mortgage property by their separate signatures. The husband may mortgage without the consent of the wife, and the wife may mortgage without the consent of the husband. The mortgage may be obtained merely for the purpose of getting the title out of the family.

There is another question which also should be considered. It is not merely the husband dealing with his property or the wife dealing with hers but there are children who enter into it, and to allow the home of these children to be taken away by the signature of one without the signature of the other seems to be most harmful in its effect on family life. Not only for this reason but for the first reason which I gave, we should not pass something which is directly contrary to what we passed two weeks ago. Personally I shall vote against this bill.

Mr. GUERIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to point out this fact to the members of the House: It is this, that if the bill that has been passed and referred to by Mr. Edmonds,—if that bill fails in the Senate, we have no means of equalizing this condition, which appears to be the sentiment of all the House, But, on the suggestion of a fellow member, I would move that this bill be placed again on the postponed calendar until the Senate acts on the other bill.

Mr. ARTHUR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker announced the "ayes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and one hundred and twenty-nine members, or more than a majority of the House having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Woner,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act relating to treasurers in counties of the sixth class providing for their salaries bonds offices and supplies and the compensation of deputies and clerks

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading, be reconsidered.

Miss MacKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Counties and Townships for the purpose of amendment.

Miss MacKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I hesitated for some moments to rise to a question of personal privilege, because I know that there is now a great amount of work which we have to do, but the matter which I am about to present to the House is of such great importance, and it might mean such great consequences that I feel I am duty bound to impose upon your patience for a moment.

I have always had the greatest respect for newspaper men. I have had the greatest esteem for the men who represented the newspapers on the floor of this House, but never, in all my time, have I had greater cause to admire their great knowledge and their forsight and their general knowledge, not only of the affairs of this Commonwealth, but of the affairs of the nation and of the international matters with which we are concerned. I was approached this evening by a delegation of the newspapermen, headed by "Cap" Cummings of the Philadelphia Record, and despite the fact that for personal reasons—I should have no particular reason to favor any legislation which might be requested by these men, and which they have presented to me a resolution which I have been asked to introduce. I shudder members of this House, when I think what might have happened to the good name of Pennsylvania if this act of courtesy had been omitted. By presenting this resolution, I feel that Pennsylvania is maintaining its position in the forefront of those who follow not only national but international customs and courtesy, and so with the indulgence of the House, I desire to present this resolution, and ask that is be read by the Clerk, and move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read as follows:

RESOLUTION

Whereas, his Royal Highness, King Boohoo, of Siam, will on April 6, 1923, observe with regal splendor the sixty-first anniversary of his birth and the thirty-second anniversary of his ascension to the throne, and

Whereas, his Majesty at all times and under all circumstances has been eminently fair and friendly to the people of this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, travelers from Pennsylvania, visiting the far-flung domains of his Majesty have always been treated with the utmost respect and courtesy, now, therefore,

Be it resolved, that this House extend to his Majesty, King Boohoo, of Siam, congratulations on having attained the ripe age of sixty-one, and that we further extend our wishes for a continuation of his happy reign, and

Be it further resolved that the clerk be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to Siam to be submitted to his Majesty through his Privy Counsellor.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I don't wish to trespass any further upon the time of the members, but if this motion is not going to be put, may I suggest that, for the time being, at least, the resolution be referred to my stable?

The SPEAKER. The resolution lies over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McDermott.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 382, entitled:

An Act relating to the leasing of real property, making it unlawful to dispossess tenants or recover leased property except after thirty days' notice; prohibiting the execution of leases containing waivers of the provisions of this act and voiding certain leases.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Rhodes.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 729, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one thousand one one thousand two one thousand three and one thousand four Article ten of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and ninety-seven) entitled "An act to establish a Bureau of Forest Protection within the Department of Forestry designating the officers who shall constitute the Bureau their duties and salaries prescribing penalties for the violation thereof and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that may be inconsistent with or supplied by this act" by providing for imprisonment for default in payment of fines and costs in case of neglect of duty by fire warden refusing to aid a fire warden hindering a forest protection officer in his duties or non-abatement of a nuisance caused by maintaining a special forest fire hazard

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HOLCOMBE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1001 by omitting bracket before "be", line 19, page 2 and after "court," line 23, page 2.

Amend Section 1001 by striking out the word "one" in line 21, page 2, and inserting the word "five" in lieu thereof.

Amend Section 1001 by striking out the word "three" in line 22, page 2, and inserting the word "six" in lieu thereof.

Amend Section 1001 by striking out that portion of line 23, page 2, following the word "court" and all of lines 24, 25, 26, 27, page 2, and lines 1 and 2, page 3.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instruction of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 209, as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

HOUSE BILL No. 373.

An Act to amend an act approved June fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 955) entitled "An Act making state taxes unpaid bonus, interest, penalties and all public accounts a first lien upon the franchise and property of corporations, companies, associations, joint-stock associations and limited partnerships against which the same may be settled providing for enforcing the payment thereof and for the furnishing of certificates as to the existence of such liens upon application thereof, and repealing section four of the act approved April sixteen one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven" by providing for the employment of counsel fixing such counsels' commissions and giving such commissions and costs the same priority and liens as such taxes bonus interest penalties and public accounts

With information that the Senate has passed the same amendment in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 13, by striking out after the word "twenty-seven" the following; "by extending its provisions to include individuals and providing for attorneys' commissions making such commissions part of said claim and giving such commissions and costs the same priority as said taxes bonus interest and penalties and inserting in lieu thereof the following "by providing for the employment of counsel fixing such counsels' commissions and giving such commissions and costs the same priority and liens as such taxes bonus interest penalties and public accounts"

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 23 by striking out the following "individual corporation company association joint-stock association or limited partnership shall be a first lien upon the franchise and property both real and personal of such individual corporation company association joint-stock association or limited partnership from the date when they are settled by the Auditor General or by the Auditor General and State Treasurer" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "corporation company association joint-stock association or limited partnership shall be a first lien upon the franchise and property both real and personal of such corporation company association joint-stock association or limited partnership from the date when they are settled by the Auditor General and approved by the State Treasurer or in the cases where the Auditor General alone makes the settlement from the date when they are so settled by him and whenever the franchise or property of a corporation company association joint-stock association or limited partnership shall be sold at a judicial sale all taxes interest bonus penalties and public accounts due the Commonwealth shall first be allowed and paid out of the proceeds of such sale before any judgment mortgage or any other claim or lien against such corporation company association stock association or limited partnership"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the mendments made by the Senate?

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I say that these amendments have been made in answer to objections that were made to the bill, and that they are entirely satisfactory to the sponsor.

On the question recurring,

NOT VOTING—Johnson.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL NO. 38.

An Act relating to treasurers in counties of the fifth class providing for their salaries bonds offices and supplies and the compensation of deputies and clerks

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "be" the following: "five thousand dollars ($5,000)" and striking out in line 5, the following: "four thousand dollars ($4,000)".

Amend Section 6, page 2, line 29, by inserting after the syllable "urer" the following: "except commissions due or payable to the county treasurer for acting as agent of the Commonwealth which commissions shall be payable to the county treasurers as now authorized by law"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. VAN ALEN. Mr. Speaker, as sponsor of this bill, I wish to say that I am agreeable to these amendments.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor for a moment?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Van Alen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAN ALEN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER, The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. EDMONDS. As I understood the purpose of this bill, when it was before us, before there was a fixed salary in place of fees, but does not the amendment have the effect of restoring the fees in addition to the salary?

Mr. VAN ALEN. In answer to the question, I would state where the treasurer is acting as agent for the Commonwealth he is paid the treasurer's fee from money collected for the Commonwealth.

Mr. EDMONDS. As it was originally provided there was no fee paid to the treasury?

Mr. VAN ALEN. That could not be helped in this instance, because it would necessitate a change in every county in the Commonwealth, while this only applies to counties of the fifth class.

Mr. EDMONDS. Does it have the effect now of giving the county treasurer in the fifth class counties a salary of five thousand dollars and in addition to that, a commission on all he collects for the State?

Mr. VAN ALEN. It does, sir.

Mr. EDMONDS. That would make his salary what?

Mr. VAN ALEN. About two-thirds of the salary that he is now drawing.

Mr. EDMONDS. Two-thirds as a total?

Mr. VAN ALEN. Just about, sir.

Mr. EDMONDS. What is his present salary?

Mr. VAN ALEN. Anywhere from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars a year.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE MESSAGE.

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

HOUSE BILL No. 219.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article seventeen, section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, authorizing the granting of free passes or passes at a discount to clergymen.

HOUSE BILL No. 470.

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 639), entitled "An Act authorizing cities of the first class to make appropriations for the support of destitute families of persons sentenced to imprisonment and providing a system of control and administration for the distribution thereof" extending said act to cities of the second class.

With information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until 11.00 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:59 P. M.) the House adjourned until 11:00 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Session 1923 — 125th of the General Assembly

Vol. 7. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1923. No. 34.

SENATE

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1923.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: We are very glad and thankful that all things are in Thy hands; that Thou dost rule and overrule; that it is forever true that while "Man proposes, God disposes." All about us we see the forces of evil in the world, the forces of pride and hatred and selfishness. And sometimes we tremble lest the evil may prevail, and truth and justice and righteousness be overthrown. We are thankful that Thou art mightier than all Thy foes; that the reins of government are in Thy hands, and that those who would set themselves against Thee are but as the small dust of the balance in Thy sight. Bare Thy right arm and get unto Thyself the victory, and in the day of moral and spiritual battle may we always be found on Thy side. For Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. VARE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. ARON, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 537, (House Bill No. 560), entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-third day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, (P. L. 223), entitled "An Act to authorize the courts of Bradford county to hold additional sessions in the borough of Troy, in said county," and the act approved the nineteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, (P. L. 983), entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An Act to authorize the courts of Bradford county to hold additional sessions in the borough of Troy, in said county,' passed the twenty-third day of February, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy."

Mr. BETTS, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 507, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act, approved the ninth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 794) entitled "An act providing that estates in buildings, ground, books, curios, pictures, statuary and other works of art, passing by will to any municipality corporation, or unincorporated body, for free exibition within Pennsylvania, shall not be subject to collateral inheritance tax, and, in certain instances, the date when such tax shall become due," extending the act to property passing to colleges, universities and educational institutions.

Mr. HARRIS, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 509, entitled:

An Act to require the teaching of the constitution of the United States in the public and private schools.

Mr. CLARK, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 396, (House Bill No. 362), entitled:

An Act to empower and authorize any school or college or institution of optometry incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania organized operated and conducted not for profit which has a prescribed course of study to confer a degree certifying to the completion of such prescribed course of study

Mr. PHIPPS, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 666, (House Bill No. 691), entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 322) entitled "An Act creating a Commission to select an historic spot as a cemetery for the burial of bodies of soldiers, sailors, marines, war nurses and members of the National Guard defining the powers and duties of the Commission and making an appropriation" extending the time for the making of the report of the Commission and making an additional appropriation.

Mr. PHIPPS, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 464, entitled:

An ---- providing a means whereby real estate, devised upon a trust to divide it among other persons, and the trustee has died without performing the trust, may be divided amicably by the interested persons, with the approval of the Orphans' Court and the legal title be vested in them by judicial decree.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I rise to question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, the rule providing for the keeping of the floor of the Senate clear of those not entitled to the floor is being grossly violated, and I suggest that the Presiding Officer call this to the attention of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and ask those not entitled to the privileges of the floor to retire.

The PRESIDENT. The Sergeant-at-Arms will see that all who are not entitled to those privileges will retire from the floor of the Senate.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

That every corporation heretofore or hereafter incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth excepting those referred to in section two of this act may create two or more kinds of common stock and two or more kinds of preferred stock either with nominal or par value or without nominal or par value at the time of its incorporation by provisions inserted in the certificate of incorporation or at any later time and in case of corporations heretofore incorporated by amendment in the manner now provided by law of its certificate of incorporation with the consent of a majority in interest of its stockholders having voting power obtained at a meeting to be called for that purpose Notice of the time place and purpose of such meeting shall be published once a week for sixty (60) days prior to said meeting in a newspaper of general circulation and in the legal journal if any of the county in which the principal office of the corporation in this Commonwealth is located Such classes of stock may from time to time be authorized and issued out of the unissued stock of the corporation Such stock may be issued in one or more classes in such amounts for each class without regard to the amount of any other class or the amount of unqualified common stock and with such designations rights privileges limitations preferences and voting powers or prohibitions restrictions or qualifications of the voting and other rights and powers and upon such terms as to redemption in any class thereof (at not less than par) and convertible or not into any other class of stock common or preferred as may be set forth in the original certificate of incorporation or in any amendment thereof or as may be approved and adopted by the stockholders at the time of the authorization or at any time prior to the issuance there of The rate of preferred dividend for any class of stock shall not exceed ten per centum (10%) per annum Such stock may be issued for cash or property or in exchange for other stock of the corporation or through all or more than one of said methods and the stock so exchanged for such preferred stock and returned to the corporation may be issued again by the corporation

The certificate of incorporation and in the case of corporations heretofore incorporated the amendment of the certificate of incorporation in lieu of the statements now prescribed by law as to the amount of the corporations capital stock and the number and par value of the shares into which it is divided shall set forth and show

(a) The number of shares with nominal or par value and the number of shares without nominal or par value that may be issued by the corporation and the classes if any into which such shares are divided

(b) The nominal or par value of shares of stock other than shares which it is stated are to have no nominal or par value

(c) In the case of corporations hereinafter to be incorporated the amount of the capital with which the corporation wil begin business

(d) In the case of corporations heretofore incorporated the amount of the capital stock that the corporation is authorized to issue at the time of such amendment of its certificate of incorporation

Section 2 That said act be and the same is hereby further amended by adding thereto the following sections

Section 7 Every certificate for shares of stock without any nominal or par value shall have plainly stated upon its face the number of shares which it represents and no certificate shall express any par value for such shares or any rate of dividend to which it shall be entitled in terms of percentage of any par or other value

Section 8 Any corporation having shares without any nominal or par value in pursuance of this act may increase or reduce the number of shares which it may issue in the manner and subject to the terms and conditions now provided by law for the increase or reduction of the capital stock of a similar corporation having shares with a par value

Section 9 For the purpose of this act the "stated capital" of any corporation hereafter to be incorporated issuing shares without nominal or par value shall be the capital with which the corporation will begin business as stated in the certificate of incorporation or upon amendment of its certificate of incorporation by any corporation hereto fore incorporated as in this act provided the then authorized capital of the corporation so amending or as may thereafter be increased or decreased as provided by law In the case of corporations having outstanding shares with a nominal or par value as well as shares without nominal or par value the portion of "stated capital" applicable to the shares without nominal or par value shall be the excess of the "stated capital" over and above shares having a par value

Section 10 For the purpose of computing the bonus required to be paid under the laws of this Commonwealth and such tax or taxes if any the determination of which is based on the par value of the shares of stock and not on the number of shares or the actual or ascertained value thereof and for the purpose of determining the amount of the liability of stockholders in their individual capacity for work and labor done to carry on the operation of the corporation or for the debts due laborers mechanics and clerks but for no other purpose each share of stock without any nominal or par value under the provisions of this act shall be considered the equivalent of a share having a nominal or par value of one hundred dollars

Section 11 For the purpose of any certificate of notification report return or similar instrument wherein the amount or par value of stock or capital or capital stock paid in outstanding called or retired is required to be stated in the case of shares without a nominal or par value and with respect to such shares for the purpose of ascertaining and fixing the "stated capital" the amount of such shares without a nominal or par value shall be taken and deemed to be the amount in the aggregate of the par value of the shares called or retired Provided That in case of such shares without a nominal or par value authorized but unused and not presently to be issued it shall not be necessary in such certificate report return or similar instrument to show the amount or par value thereof and only the number of shares thereof need be stated

Section 12 For the purpose of any statutory provision limiting the amount of capital stock which a corporation may have or for the purpose of determining the relation between indebtedness and capital stock or prescribing the portion or amount or par value of stock or capital which must be paid in cash or otherwise whether at the time of formation before commencing business or from time to time subsequent thereto the stated capital of a corporation having shares without nominal or par value shall be held and deemed to be its capital stock or the amount thereof

Section 13 Nothing in this act contained shall be construed as excepting or relieving a corporation from any requirement of the law as to the amount in dollars of paid in capital in cash or otherwise which it must have at any time

Section 14 In any investigation or proceeding by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any agency thereof to determine the value of the property assets or capital stock of a corporation having shares without nominal or par value under the provisions of this act neither the stated capital of such corporation or the number of shares of its outstanding stock without a nominal or par value shall be controlling but the same may be disregarded or considered only to such extent as the Commonwealth or its agency shall deem necessary or proper for the purpose of such investigation or proceeding

Section 15 Except as otherwise provided by this act corporations issuing shares without any nominal or par value under the provisions hereof shall be and remain subject to the laws of this Commonwealth now or hereafter in force relating to the formation or regulation rights powers and privileges of such corporations

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 258, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and twenty-five of the act approved the fourteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, (P. L. 840), entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating thereto" fixing the compensation of township auditors.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, it seems to have become the custom recently for the Legislative Reference Bureau not to send their amendments to the Senate Chamber until the bill is ready for third reading, thus in many cases delaying the bill at least one week. I have received amendments to this bill from the Legislative Reference Bureau and I now ask unanimous consent to amend Section 1 page 1 lines 8 and 9 by striking out the words "which reads" and inserting in lieu thereof: "is hereby amended to read;" also lines 10 and 11 by striking out lines 10 and 11 and eliminating them from the bill: also page 2 lines 1 to 13 by striking out lines 1 to 13 both inclusive and eliminating them from the bill; also line 21 by striking out the word "To" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "Two"; also line 25 by inserting before "five" the word "two"

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 385, (House Bill No. 411), entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and five of the act approved the fourteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, (P. L. 840), entitled "An Act concerning townships; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto."

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 390, as follows:

An Act creating the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" Appropriating a Portion of the State Tax on anthracite coal to the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission and Imposing Duties upon the State Treasurer and Auditor General

Whereas subsidences of the surface commonly called mine caves resulting from the mining and removal of anthracite coal have created in the anthracite region a menace to community life and to the continued existence of Municipalities forming an integral part of the Commonwealth of such proportions as to clothe with a public interest the destruction of private as well as of public property tending to jeopardize the health safety and welfare of the citizens of the Commonwealth residing in that region and

Whereas the conditions aforesaid may be greatly ameliorated and the public health safety and welfare promoted by the proper functioning of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission which has heretofore been without funds for the performance of its duties Now Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That twenty-five per centum of the moneys to be hereafter derived from the tax on anthracite coal under and by virtue of the Act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled "An Act Imposing a State Tax on Anthracite Coal Providing for the Assessment and collection thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this Act" is hereby permanently dedicated and apportioned to the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission

Section 2 Said moneys so dedicated and apportioned shall by the State Treasurer be placed in a special fund to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" separate and apart from the general revenues of the Commonwealth and shall be available for the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission upon the requisitions of said commission from time to time and all such moneys hereafter paid into the State Treasury and placed in such special fund are hereby specifically appropriated to the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission in lieu of funds derived from other sources for the purposes described in the act creating said Commission approved May twenty-seven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled "An Act affecting anthracite coal mines and operations establishing the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission defining its jurisdiction and powers imposing duties upon owners and operators of anthracite coal mines and imposing penalties"

Section 3 Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to affect the aforesaid Act of May eleven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one Pamphlet Laws page four hundred and seventy-nine or change the amount of tax levied thereunder and in case this Act shall be Judicially determined to be unconstitutional and ineffective the moneys hereby appropriated shall revert to such other fund as may by law be established for that purpose and in default of such fund to the general revenues of the Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 390 the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 391, as follows:

An Act creating the "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" Appropriating pro rata according to population a portion of the tax on anthracite coal to the use of the Cities Boroughs and Townships from which the anthracite coal taxed was removed in course of mining and imposing duties upon the State Treasurer and Auditor General

Whereas the mining and removal of large quantities of anthracite coal has a tendency to permanently impoverish the municipalities from which it is removed and to impair the sources of municipal revenue by depreciating the value of real estate subject to taxation and at the same time imposing heavy financial burdens upon such municipalities in the protection of public highways and public buildings against dangers resulting from the removal of subjacent and adjacent support and from the damaged condition of abutting properties caused by surface subsidences commonly called mine caves Now Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That there is hereby created a fund to be known as the "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" to be kept by the State Treasurer separate and apart from the general revenues of the Commonwealth Said fund shall consist of fifty per centum of the moneys to be hereafter derived from the State tax on anthracite coal less whatever moneys shall be paid into another special fund to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" provided said last mentioned fund shall be established Said State tax on anthracite coal herein referred to is the tax levied by virtue of the act approved May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled "An Act imposing a State tax on anthracite coal providing for the assessment and collection thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this act"

Section 2 All moneys remaining unexpended at the end of the calendar year in the said "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" if the same shall be established shall be transferred by the State Treasurer to the said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund"

Section 3 The State Treasurer shall from time to time make such transfers and deposits of funds as may be necessary to carry this act into effect

Section 4 All moneys paid into the said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" shall be paid yearly by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General to the cities boroughs and townships from which any anthracite coal taxed under the aforesaid act of May eleven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one was removed in course of mining said fund to be distributed pro rata according to population by the last preceding United States Census All moneys hereafter transferred or paid into said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinbefore mentioned

Section 5 Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to effect the aforesaid act of May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one Pamphlet Laws page four hundred and seventy-nine or change the amount of tax levied thereunder and in case this act shall be judicially determined to be unconstitutional the moneys hereby appropriated shall revert to the general revenues of the Commonwealth

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS RECOMMITTED.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 391, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 415, (House Bill No. 449), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph one section five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain incorporations" as amended changing the effect of the by-laws of corporations be committed to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1923

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou who didst call Thy servant, Moses, away from the stress and struggle, contention and strife and cavil of the camp, and Thou who didst command him to be ready and come up in the morning to the top of the mountain, and forbade man and beast to come nigh, that he might be still in Thy presence, that Thou couldst give unto him commandments and law, we pray this morning that Thou wouldst help us to draw in the wanderings of our minds and be silent before Thee, that we may hear Thee speak, that we too may hear the revelations of Thy will, to the end that we may give nobly, act wisely, and serve faithfully.

We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings when, on motion of Miss Gallaher, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO ALLEGHENY RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Mr. McVICAR offered the following resolution which was read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, April 2, 1923.

Whereas, the improvement of Allegheny River to a point north of the mouth of the French Creek in the County of Venango has already been determined upon; and

Whereas, at the last session of the Congress of the United States, the Hon. M. Clyde Kelly introduced a bill known as HR-14458, providing for the construction of a canal from the mouth of French Creek and by way of said French Creek to Lake Erie at a point at or near the City of Erie, which bill was not acted upon by reason of the lack of time; and

Whereas, it is believed that the construction of said canal would furnish a short and convenient water way between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico, and thereby be of great value commercially, industrially and economically; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Congress of the United States be, and it is hereby, petitioned to cause such an examination, investigation and survey to be made as are necessary in order to determine whether the construction of the aforesaid canal is reasonable and practicable, and also to determine whether it is to the best interest of the United States that such improvement be made;

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be requested to forward this resolution to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate of the United States.

REPORT OF RULES COMMITTEE.

Mr. McVICAR offered the following report from the Committee on Rules, which was twice read and adopted.

House of Representatives, April 3rd, 1923.

The Committee on Rules is unable to make a report at this time fixing the date of the final adjournment of the General Assembly because there are a large number of bills now pending in the House committees and a considerable number of bills will be received hereafter which originate in the Senate and the committee is without information as to the number of such bills and the time that will be required of the committees to make reports to the House thereon. Also of the time that will be required by the House in acting upon the bills which are reported to it by the committees.

That the Committee on Rules may have such information as is in the possession of the House and its various Committees so that a resolution fixing a date of final adjournment may be reported hereafter, it recommends adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, that the Chairmen of the various committees of the House be and they are hereby instructed to report to the Committee on Rules not later than April 16th, 1923, the number of bills pending in their respective committees and the amount of time as nearly as can be ascertained that will be required to report thereon.

RESOLUTION No. 7.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 7, file folio 2037.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

Whereas, at each session of the Legislature, bills are introduced for the purpose of providing pensions for State county and municipal officers and employes upon their retirement from office, many of these bills imposing a mandatory obligation upon the State, counties and municipalities. and

Whereas, the Legislature cannot during the busy weeks of its session ascertain the conditions and facts surrounding these demands and deal fairly with those who would receive the benefit of legislation of this class and also with the taxpayer whose money is appropriated, and

Whereas the existing pension laws for State county and municipal officers and employes differ greatly as to conditions under which benefits can be granted and as to the methods by which the necessary revenues are obtained, and

Whereas, it is the sense of the members of this Legislature that all public pension funds should be placed on a sound uniform and equitable basis under a fixed State policy, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a commission of seven members be appointed, two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House and two by the Governor to be known as the "Public Service Pension Commission" to make a survey of all pension and retirement funds for the officers and employes of the State and the various county and municipal governments, to investigate the question of the desirability of establishing a uniform equitable system of retiring State, county and municipal employes and whether a proper standard can be established for fixing the basis of such pensions to the end that all shall be dealt with fairly, the said commission to report their findings together with any recommendations thereon at the next session of the Legislature, and

That the members of said commission shall serve without compensation and the expenses of said commission shall be limited to five thousand ($5,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary and that the same be provided for in the next general appropriation bill.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, Resolution No. 7, which came before this House last session, and passed without a dissenting vote in this assembly, I bring up to you today in the name of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, an organization of more than six thousand business men of Allegheny County. This Resolution provides for a survey of the pension system in Pennsylvania. Every session we are here we have dumped upon us all kinds of pension bills, many of which we have not time to study and sometimes we vote for things and wish afterwards we had not done so. This resolution simply provides for a commission of five, two from the Senate and three from the House; that commission to make a study of the pension systems in Pennsylvania and bring back to this body two years hence a comprehensive report of these systems.

Now, I want to say to you in the giving of this message that I am for pensions, I believe in pensions; I believe in pensions to take care of employees of the State, and I believe our County should take care of their employees; I am for the mothers' pension fund, and I am for old age pensions, but the things I am concerned about today, men and women of this House, I want to be assured, as you do, that when promising these people pensions we shall have the pension money for them when old age comes upon them. I am simply here to lay before you the facts in this resolution and what I want to ask you today is to appoint a commission from this House and from the Senate to draw up a comprehensive report to be presented two years from now, stating whether our pension systems in Pennsylvania are sound and economic, and whether they will pan out when the time comes when a man wants to retire on old age, whether they will have money enough to take care of him the rest of his days. I have no fault to find whatever, but when we made requests of some systems in Pennsylvania and asked for an investigation, or rather a chance to look at some of their books, they have refused to permit us to look at them. Anybody who will vote against this resolution today has something that they don't want uncovered. The situation is simply this: we simply want to find out how these systems are run, whether ecomomically or not, and whether or not when the time comes these men will have the money they are promised. I ask you to vote for this resolution so we will have an inspection so far as the pensions in Pennsylvania are concerned.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, May I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Yes sir.

Mr. HARER. I would like to ask if it is your intention that this bill carry an appropriation with it.

Mr. VICKERMAN. The bill carries $5,000.00 for the expenses of the commission.

Mr. HARER. Does it make the appropriation or recommend it?

Mr. VICKERMAN. It recommends it.

Mr. HARER. Have you made provisions for such amount in the appropriation bill?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I have not.

Mr. HARER. Do you think this resolution will amount to much without an appropriation to carry it into effect?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I believe the money can be found.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I simply want to say that it seems to me that a bill carrying an appropriation like this should be considered by the Appropriation Committee, and not passed in this manner.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

In the Senate, April 3, 1923.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns today it reconvene on Monday evening, April ninth, at nine o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April ninth, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE RECEIVED BY HOUSE TO MEET IN JOINT SESSION.

The Sergeant at-Arms announced the return to the Hall of the House of the Committee appointed on the part of the House, escorting the members of the Senate to the Hall of the House.

Mr. CLUTTON. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to escort the memebrs of the Senate to the Hall of the House has performed this duty, and the Senate is present for the Joint Session.

The SPEAKER. The committee is discharged with thanks. The Senators will be seated. The President of the Senate is invited to preside over the Joint Session, and the President Pro tempore is invited to a seat at the desk.

JOINT SESSION.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS, PRESIDING.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Joint Session will be in order.

The SERGEANT AT-ARMS announced the return to the Hall of the House of the Committee appointed on the part of the House, escorting His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. President, the Committee appointed by the Speaker of the House to inform the Senate of the Join Session of the Senate and House of Representatives have performed that duty and take pleasure in announcing the presence of his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS, Members of the General Assembly, I take great pleasure in introducing to you the Governor of the Commonwealth, who will address you on questions of finance and reorganization.

ADDRESS.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT. Mr. President, members of the General Assembly and friends, I regret that the nature of the subjects upon which I am to have the honor of speaking to you, is such as to require a somewhat lengthy presentation, but I wish to ask your indulgence in the matter, believing that the purposes which we have in common will be best served by this statement.

With the passage of the Enforcement Act the first article of the Administration program was enacted into law, and the most keenly disputed question before the General Assembly was settled and removed from the field of legislative contention. Additional bills regulating the manufacture of near beer and dealing with non-beverage uses of alcohol have been introduced, and will, I hope and believe, in due time receive your approval.

Two other questions of primary importance are before your honorable body. One of them relates to the financial affairs of the Commonwealth, and its return to a pay-as-you go basis. The other deals with the reorganization of the State Government, which is indispensable if we are to secure reasonable economy and efficiency in the business of the State Government.

On January 23rd I submitted to the General Assembly the first Budget ever prepared for the State of Pennsylvania. This Budget was drawn up by men without official authority, with no legal power to secure complete reports, and with no Pennsylvania precedents to guide them. Nevertheless, the cooperation they received from officials was in most cases so hearty, the methods they employed were so thorough, and the principles upon which they proceeded were so sound, that the Budget stands today absolutely unscathed in all essentials by the searching examination and criticism to which it has been subjected.

Although the Budget was submitted to the Legislature during the first week of the present Administration for the special purpose of giving ample time for examination and discussion, nothing has been developed to vitiate or change in any material respect the picture the Budgets presents of the financial condition of the Commonwealth to modify seriously the plan of appropriation it suggests, or to indicate a practicable remedy for the situation beyond those which it sets forth. In other words, the Budget has proved its entire soundness and is fulfilling completely the purpose for which it was prepared.

Far from magnifying the financial embarrassment of the Commonwealth, the Budget made every effort to minimize it while keeping wholly within the truth. It not only assumed a revenue for the coming two years three million dollars greater than the official estimate of the Auditor General, but it assumed also that a million dollars of appropriations could be lapsed (more than can be lapsed in fact), and that three and a half million dollars could be saved by the Departments during the present biennium (a greater saving than can be foreseen at this time). These items, together with the excess of one million dollars beyond the Budget estimate in the Deficiency Bill recently passed, mean postponements of expenditures and an additional burden of economies in the next biennium. The fact is that the Budget has been stretched to the utmost limit in the effort to avoid new taxation.

Including, as it does, an average cut of 26½ per centum in the appropriations for the Executive Departments below those of the present biennium, I repeat that the Budget statement of our financial situation was the very best showing that could in reason be made. Additional information received since it was presented makes the situation worse rather than better.

For example, the sinking fund established for the protection of highway bonds does not yet contain the full amounts appropriated by the Legislature for investment. The State still owes the sinking fund $1,026,590. The loss in interest alone, due to the postponement of this investment, amounting to about $85,000, can be made up now only by direct contributions from our taxes.

It has been suggested that the appropriation liability we face should not be met in two years, but should be distributed over a longer period. There are three ways in which this could be done.

One is to continue appropriating beyond our income, and let unpaid bills keep piling up in the Treasury. There is no defense for such a practice and we are all against it.

The second way is to appropriate the money but not to spend it, or not to spend all of it. A few obligations, such as the Delaware River Bridge, can fairly be met by this method. The Budget has applied it to as large an extent as was practicable.

The third method, which also the budget has used to the limit of wisdom and practicability, is to postpone making appropriations for needs that are already known. Thus needed new construction to the extent of at least $3,000,000 has been postponed. Monuments and markers to commemorate the lives and deeds of great men to the extent of at least $500,000 have been postponed. The payment of half a million dollars for lands already purchased for public parks has been postponed. The full requirement for the Teachers' Retirement Fund has not been met in the Budget by some $600,000 should present salaries be maintained. The $7,000,000 allotted to the Sinking Fund in the Budget should be increased by $1,000,000 if that fund is to be put on the most favorable actuarial basis. Finally, the Budget assumed a total of $4,500,000 that could be saved by lapsing appropriations by departmental economies, and by additional postponements.

The items thus postponed will approach $10,000,000 in total amount. The Budget has balanced the burden of increased taxes against the burden of these postponements. It is believed that everything has been done which within the bounds of business common sense could properly be done to distribute the present appropriation liability beyond the next biennium.

There is a common impression that the appropriation of specific sums for specific purposes in great detail leads to economy and efficiency in the operation of the Government, and that lump sums lead to waste. That impression is not always correct, as the actual workings of the two systems—lump sum and statutory roll—in the Government of Pennsylvania amply demonstrates.

In accordance with the impression just referred to, it has frequently been suggested that the items of appropriation for the various Departments, particularly as to salaries, should be stated in greater detail in the general appropriation bill. As to this there are several things to be said.

In the first place, a comparison of these items with the methods of appropriation hitherto used by the General Assembly discloses the fact, which has not been generally understood, that with comparatively few exceptions the Budget follows the principles heretofore applied for many, if not all, of the Departments. Far from being unknown or unusual, the lump sum method of appropriation has been commonly employed by Pennsylvania Legislatures for many years past in appropriating for all parts of the State service. Thus at the last session lump sums totaling $12,121,000 were given to the Department of Highways, $5,300,742 to the Department of Health, $4,416,427.64 to the Department of Grounds and Buildings, $833,000 to the Public Service Commission, and these are only a few. Indeed it is safe to say that more than three-fourths of the appropriations under which the Executive Departments are now operating are lump sum appropriations. There is, therefore, nothing new and nothing wrong in lump sum appropriations. Of all the positions now under all the executive departments 74% are not on statutory rolls and 69% of all the salaries of executive departments are now paid from lump sums.

The designation by law of a specific amount as pay for one individual to perform a specific duty has offered in the past, and in actual practice offers today, no effective guarantee either that the individual will actually do the work for which the money was set aside, or that his pay will actually be limited to the salary designated. There are instances in the Departments, as any committee of the House or Senate can easily ascertain for itself, in which persons drawing salaries specifically appropriated by law for the performance of certain duties are in fact performing duties wholly unconnected with those which the law specified, and other instances in which persons performing duties to which certain fixed salaries have been assigned by law are in fact paid higher salaries by increases taken out of contingent funds, or otherwise provided. There were and are some such cases of the latter in my own office. In still other instances full time statutory salaries have been paid for part time work, or full salaries have been paid and accepted for substantially no work at all.

Doubtless in some cases (although certainly not in all) the result has been to promote the public interest. I cite them merely as illustrating the well known fact that detailed appropriations are commonly disregarded and do not of themselves make for economy and efficiency in the Government's business.

Moreover, a comparison of the Departments which employ clerical and stenographic assistants under lump sums with those operating under statutory rolls discloses that under lump sums the work is, first, decidedly better done, and, second, the cost to the State is decidedly less. Thus the average salary for stenographers in the Highway Department under lump sum is $1080, in the Health Department under lump sum is $1200, while under statutory roll in Public Grounds and Buildings it is $1300, in the Department of Internal Affairs $1300, and in Labor and Industry $1350. The difference in clerical positions is still more striking.

The interests of the State suffer by too much detail in the law not only in the case of salaried officials, but also where fees are prescribed. I have in my possession the affidavit of a State inspector in one of our cities showing that he secured his position upon the basis of an agreement to divide his fees with a well known politician, and that he did so divide them. As soon as I learned of this practice it was stopped.

I am far from objecting to reasonable detail in an appropriation bill under ordinary circumstances, but I call your special attention to three facts. The first is that the substantial reduction of more than one quarter in appropriations for the Executive Departments would of itself make detailed appropriations impossible, since no one can tell until the problem has been worked out just how the necessary changes should most wisely be made.

The second fact is that the same statement holds true with regard to the effect of the proposed reorganization. That also must be worked out slowly and with great care.

The third fact is that the adjustments and economies which are practicable under lump sums, but not under statutory rolls, will make it possible to appropriate less money by a number of millioms than would be needed under detailed appropriations. Under the latter an average cut of 26½% would be entirely impossible. For all three reasons the general appropriation bill should this year trend somewhat more toward lump sum appropriations than it has in the past.

I accept the responsibility for managing the Executive Departments responsible to me with the reductions and upon the conditions set forth in the Budget without additional funds from new taxation, and I desire now to repeat to the General Assembly what I set forth in the speech submitting the Budget and what I have since continually repeated to individual members—that if the Legislature shall decide to raise additional taxes, then in my opinion there is only one purpose to which the funds so raised need to be applied; namely, to education.

In considering the matter of appropriations for common schools it should be remembered that unless the salaries now paid to school teachers are reduced the question is not whether more money shall be paid for schools, but solely who shall pay it. Unless the Legislature decided to lower teachers' salaries the question is not whether the total load of taxation for school purposes shall be lightened, but what proportion of it shall be paid by local taxation and what by the State. The total burden upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth as a whole will be the same in either case. It is simply a question of how it shall be distributed among the different classes of taxpayers.

The report of the Council of Education as to a policy on higher education for the Commonwealth, and on appropriations at this session for the Commonwealth, and on appropriations at this session for the four Universities to which the State has been in the habit of contributing, has been transmitted to the Chairman of the Committees on Appropriaions and the Chairmen of the Committees on Education of both Houses. It is, in my opinion, a document of historic importance in the educational progress of Pennsylvania. I am informed that it has the complete approval of the Universities concerned, and I commend it to the consideration of the members of the General Assembly.

I have no recommendation to make at this time as to how additional funds shall be raised for education, believing that is wholly a matter for the General Assembly to decide, or as to what specific additional taxes shall be imposed. I am, however, strongly of opinion, and in this I believe I express the judgment both of the General Assembly and of the people of Pennsylvania, that vigorous steps should be taken at once to determine these questions in order that the work of the General Assembly may be brought to an early and successful conclusion.

The Administrative Code and the Budget have, of course, been prepared with reference to each other. Nevertheless, the arrangement of appropriations suggested in the Budget and the drafting of the Code are such as to make it possible to consider either independently of the other. While both are essential to the economical and efficient conduct of Government, each can be considered by the Legislature independently of the other. The Code provides for the necessary transfer of Budget items, with one or two minor exceptions which will be called to the attention of the Committee on Appropriations.

The reorganization of the State Government proposed in the Administrative Code is necessary because the present organization of Departments, Boards, and Commissions of which this Government is composed is such as to make real economy and efficiency impossible. For such economy and efficiency there is a crying need, as a few illustrations will show.

More than one hundred separate organizations are responsible to the Governor alone. Many of them are wholly without administrative fiscal control, even to the extent of dividing up among the members of a board the fees received in return for its services.

The purchase of supplies has frequently been conducted under specifications designed to shut out any but certain favored bidders, while the laxness of property control has been such that on June 1, 1922, the storeroom of the Department of Grounds and Buildings was unable to account for the supplies which had been entrusted to its charge by some $23,000. In another organization four men at a total salary of $3,780 a year were employed to take charge of a property room, the whole contents of which on February 1, 1923, were valued at $4,450.

The bill of the State for rented quarters has been far too high. Savings made by the present Administration in Harrisburg alone, without reference to the new office building (which cannot be occupied for another year), already amount to $42,000 for the next two years. It is worth noting also that requisitions for supplies from the different Departments are running at the rate of less than half of those for the corresponding months last year.

These are examples given to illustrate a situation which requires a remedy. The statements as to waste and extravagance made during the campaign are confirmed and justified by investigations since conducted. The mess is here and the Administrative Code is absolutely indispensable to clean it up.

In war inefficiency is paid for in human lives. The inefficient general gets his men killed without necessity. In government inefficiency is paid for in taxpayers dollars. The inefficient executive spends the people's money without due return.

For every sort of sloppiness, carelessness, and inefficiency in government the taxpayer pays the bill. For every employee whose work is worth less than his salary the taxpayer pays—pays first for the employee who should but does not do the work, and again for the one who does it. For every dollar of unnecessary interest caused by delayed or postponed payment of sums due by the State the taxpayer pays. The Highway Bond Sinking Fund contains but one dollar out of the two the Legislature has expressly appropriated for it because, appropriations having exceeded income, payment to the Sinking Fund had to be postponed. The taxpayer must in the future pay in cash every cent of interest the State has forever lost because these funds were not invested. The amount will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, to say nothing of higher rates of interest on other bonds, because of this postponement, which the taxpayer again must pay.

The Teachers' Retirement Fund has lost about $250,000 in interest because moneys appropriated by the Legislature to that fund have not been paid in as due. More bills for the taxpayer.

Because our State Institutions have not been able to pay cash for necessary purchases they have naturally been charged higher prices to the extent of more than $100,000 a year—another extra for the taxpayer to pay.

Our schools and colleges have been forced to borrow and pay interest on money they had to have because the State contributions were not promptly paid. This interest in the end the taxpayers must pay.

These are but a few of the many illustrations which prove that the burdens of the taxpayer have been needlessly and heavily increased because the State has not run its finances on a business basis. The taxpayer, in my opinion, does not object to necessary taxes so used that a dollars worth of service is secured for every dollar spent. But he does and he should object to the needless increase of his burden by waste and inefficiency. This objection was registered in no uncertain language in the last election.

Confidence in the integrity and efficiency of Government is essential to the well-being of State and Nation alike. Public service has been and can be placed and kept on as high a plane as private service. That is one of the principal purposes the present Administration has in mind.

It should be pointed out that in comparison with the actual defects in the present State Government, its haphazard growth, and the serious embarrassment into which the present form of organization has brought us, the changes proposed in the Code are surprisingly few and small. Every effort has been exerted to suggest no change without good reason, and to avoid change for the sake of change.

I am glad to be able to report that, with few exceptions, the provisions of the Administrative Code have received the approval of the members of the Reorganization Commission authorized by the last Legislature, many of whose recommendations have been incorporated in full in the present Code, and whose thorough and painstaking work has been freely used and has been of great advantage in its preparation.

The guiding principle in preparing the Administrative Code has been to provide such a form of fiscal responsibility and control as would make impossible hereafter any repetition of the situation in which the Commonwealth finds itself today. A second principle of high importance is to bring together the hundred and more Departments, Boards, and Commissions, now responsible only to the Governor, into a number small enough to permit effective supervision by him.

Under our form of Government there are three fiscal officers of primary consequence: The Treasurer, who holds and pays out the moneys of the State; the Auditor General, who collects taxes and sees to it that payments are made only for purposes authorized by law; and the Governor, who, through the Departments which report to him, is responsible for policies of expenditure, for seeing to it that the taxpayers get their money's worth, and for keeping expenses, except in case of emergency—when the public welfare obviously so requires, strictly within the limits set by the General Assembly.

The Code leaves the authority of the Departments of the Auditor General and of the State Treasurer unchanged, and lodges the fiscal responsibility, described above as a proper function of the Governor, with the executice and with the budget officer under his supervision and control. Members of the Cabinent are given full responsibility under the same executive control for the work of their Departments. Uniform accounting is provided in order to ensure accuracy and permit comparisons between the work of the different Departments. Periodical fiscal reports are required in order to prevent deficits, secure publicity, enforce economy, and give the Governor the authority and the opportunity to exercise a proper and necessary degree of fiscal control—a control the absence of which is mainly responsible for our present unfortunate financial situation.

On the basis of the best practice in other states, and of long experience in State and National Government, a plan of reorganization is provided in the Code which, in addition to the three constitutional departments, provides for fifteen units responsible directly to the Governor, in place of the present 102.

The Code changes the name of the Department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Department of State and Finance, makes the Secretary of the Commonwealth the Budget Officer under the Governor, and authorizes him to act as the agent of the Governor in the preparation of the Budget and in the exercise of fiscal control. This is in conformity with the long established practices of making the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth the office of public record for the official acts of the Governor. This plan obviates the needless overhead expense of a new budget bureau under the immediate direction of the Governor, and avoids imposing additional and unnecessary duties on the Governor himself.

The Code provides for the creation of an Executive Board to consist of the Governor and four Department heads designated by him. This Board will have the power to standardize salaries of State employes. The salaries of only about one-fourth of the State's employes are now fixed by statute. Until the Executive Board standardizes salaries the Administration will ask the Department heads not to modify the salaries now fixed by statute without the express approval of the Executive Board.

Even assuming that under ordinary conditions, and the present conditions are not ordinary, salaries and positions should both be detailed by statute as a proper means of public control, the salaries and wages now prevailing in the Departments have never been put on a comparable basis by the Legislature. Some of the statutory salaries have remained constant for decades; others were fixed at times of high prices; and still others at periods of low prices. There is need for equity in compensation as between different branches in the State's service. Standardization of salaries and positions cannot be done on paper. It must grow out of actual work.

The Pennsylvania State Police is placed under the fiscal control of the Attorney General, the law enforcing officer of the State, who is, however, given no other power over it. The Superintendent of State Police will be the head of the force as before, and will, as at present, appoint and direct the members of the State Police force without interference on the part of any other official.

The Commission on Uniform State Laws is placed under the Department of Justice, but without change in the powers and duties of the Commissioners or in the organization of the Commission except that the Attorney General becomes ex-officio a member of it.

The Code assigns to the Department of Justice the preparation for submission to the Legislature of all such codifications of the laws as may be advisable, with the purpose of centering all work of this character in the Department of Justice rather than placing it upon the temporary commissions appointed to deal with particular subjects. By systematic effort thus made possible it is hoped and believed that with in a reasonably short time the entire statutory law of the Commonwealth can be codified and simplified.

If the Department of Justice is to have charge of the codification of the laws it is highly desirable that the Legislative Reference Bureau should be a working unit within that Department. Accordingly, the Code transfers the Legislative Reference Bureau to the Department of Justice.

The plan of the Reorganization Commission has been followed in uniting the Sinking Fund Commission, the Revenue Board, and the Board of Public Accounts into a single board of Public Accounts into a single board for the better and more economical administration of the work of all three. The only important change made refers to interest on public deposits. The statutes now provide that active deposits shall draw interest at the rate of 2% and inactive deposits at the rate of 3% interest. This is changed to read that active deposits shall draw interest at the rate of not less than 2% and inactive deposits at the rate of not less than 3% thus opening the door to larger interest on State deposits than was possible before without weaking, in any way, the safeguards placed around the State moneys.

At the time it fas created there was doubtless real need for a Department of Internal Affairs. But since that time Department after Department has been established by the General Assembly in which the internal work of the Commonwealth, which the Department of Internal Affairs was originally given to do, can be or is being done more efficiently, in closer cooperation with other similar work, at less cost to the taxpayers, and with better results. There is no longer a need or a place for a single Department of Internal Affairs. The overhead cost of it is wholly unnecessary, and the State would be better served if it were abolished.

The present functions of the Department are confined mainly to statistics, standards, and surveys. Nearly all Republican forms of State Government everywhere have abandoned the idea that functions such as these should be separated from other similar work necessarily conducted under the supervision of the Governor. No one would for a moment consider creating such a separate organization if it were not now in existence. It represents a needless waste.

The Code transfers the education of deaf, dumb, and blind children to the Department of Public Instruction, in the belief that such work is educational rather than charitable, and should be connected with the educational work of the Commonwealth.

The name of the Department of Foresty is changed, in the Code, to the Department of Forests and Waters, and certain duties of the Water Supply Commission are transferred to it, as is the Geological Survey now in the Department of Internal Affairs. The purpose is to create a Department capable of dealing with the inseparable questions of forests, stream flow, and topography, particularly in relation to the proposed Giant Power Survey and development,

The Water Supply Commission, part of whose duties are transferred to the Department of Forests and Waters, is entirely reorganized under the name of Water and Power Rescources Board, with the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Secretary of Health, the Commissioner of Fisheries, the Chairman of the Public Service Commission, and a competent engineer as members. The most important duties of the present Water Supply Commission are retained in the Water and Power Rescources Board.

A Geographic Board is created, to consist of the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Secretary of Highways, the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, and the Chief of the Land Office Bureau, now in the Department of Internal Affairs. The board is given jurisdiction over the determination, changing, and fixing of the names of mountains, rovers, creeks, and other topographic features within the Commonwealth. The need of a board with such authority is already greatly felt.

To the Department of Labor and Industry there is added, as an individual branch, the Department of Mines, with its present powers and the prescribed qualifications of its membership unchanged. The duties of the Department of Labor and Industry and the present Department of Mines are too much alike to justify separation. Each will be stronger because of close cooperation with work of the same kind in related fields. The fear that the work of the Department of Mines will suffer is wholly unjustified. On the contrary, it will be materially strengthened by the new connection, and I am glad to report that the head of the Department of Mines is in hearty sympathy with this arrangement.

The Anthracite Mine Inspectors Examining Board and the Bituminous Mine Inspectors Examining Board are, in accordance with the recommmendation of the Reorganization Commission, consolidated into one board to be known as the State Mine Inspectors Examining Board, and the compensation for its members is fixed at the uniform rate of $15.00 per day and expenses.

The present Industrial Board is retained, but with advisory instead of administrative powers. The work of the Department of Labor and Industry has heretofore been seriously hampered by clashes between the Commission and the Board. Under the Code such clashes will be impossible.

A sanitary Water Board consisting of the Secretaries of Health, Forests and Waters, and Commerce, the Commissioner of Fisheries, and the Chairman of the Public Service Commission is organized under the Department of Health. Its function is to exercise all the powers and perform all the duties heretofore vested in any of the Departments, Boards, and Commissions with regard to water pollution, and to study, investigate, and report methods of eliminating from the waters of the Commonwealth, so far as practicable, all substances or materials which would pollute them.

The Code transfers from the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings to the Department of Highways the duty of rebuilding county bridges destroyed by flood, fire, or other casualty, in view of the fact that the Highway Department is specially equipped for such work, that the Board of Grounds and Buildings is not equipped, and that in consequence traffic suffers from long delays. The proposed transfer cannot but promote the public interest.

The Code authorizes the appointment of a highway patrol to consist of not more than one hundred men, who shall be paid out of motor license fees, and whose special duty shall be to patrol the highways for the purpose of making them safe. No argument is required to show that such a patrol is urgently needed.

The powers and the duties of the Department of Public Welfare have been extended so as to bring within its Supervision State and County jails, maternity homes and hospitals, and children's institutions. It is also permitted to employ convicts in State forests for planting seeds and trees, or doing other necessary State work.

New Boards of Trustees consisting of nine members each are authorized to be appointed by the Governor for State institutions, the Secretary of Welfare to be ex-officio a member of each board. The purpose of this change is uniformity and the maintenance of higher standards. These boards will perform their duties as at present, except that superintendents or wardens appointed must have the approval of the Department. The various boards within the Department are independent of the Department in managing their own affairs, except that the Department is given supervision over the making of contracts for capital improvements.

The Code changes the name of the Department of Grounds and Buildings, which does not properly describe even its present functions, to that of the Department of Property and Supplies, and charges it with responsibility for the care and maintenance of buildings and structures as at present. It places in this Department, with the purchase and storage of supplies, the printing and binding of the Commonwealth where it naturally belongs, and adds the duty of standardizing supplies, not at present lodged in any Government organization, but absolutely essential for anything approaching economical administration.

Important changes which will save the State many thousands of dollars are made in the matter of printing and binding. A new method of awarding contracts for printing and binding is set forth in the Code, and the number of copies of each document to be published, instead of being fixed by statute as at present (with the resulting enormous waste) is to be fixed in accordance with the actual need in each case.

A central purchasing agent is provided for in this Department, but under conditions which leave State institutions free to do their own purchasing under sound standards and at proper prices,whenever their best interests so require, thus avoiding any danger of over-centralization and still securing to the central office the information necessary to economical purchasing, even by the institutions themselves.

The Department of Property and Supplies is required to procure surety bonds for State officials. It is proper that the executive authority responsible for the work and conduct of officials should be authorized to select their bondsmen.

Under the Code the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings retains unchanged its constitutional power to approve all contracts. It also retains its powers to allot quarters to all Government organizations. The actual making of specifications and securing of bids are transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies, where in actual practice this work has long been and is now carried on, since only by so doing can the proper responsibility be secured.

The proposed Department of Commerce is new. It is to consist of the Department of Banking, with its Commissioner and powers retained unchanged, and the Department of Insurance, with its Commissioner and powers retained unchanged, and is to exercise the powers heretofore exercised by the Board to License Private Bankers. The Department will also administer laws relating to the sale of securities and is directed to compile and publish statistics useful to the commercial and industrial interests of Pennsylvania.

It is remarkable that this Commonwealth, in which commerce represents so considerable a part of our total activities, has heretofore had no organization in the State Government specifically entrusted with the duty of promoting commercial interests. We have a Department to advance the interests of agriculture, and another to deal with the interests of labor and industry. It is wholly proper and altogether necessary that the commercial interests of the State should be represented and promoted by such an organization as the Code proposes.

The various licensing and other administrative boards, except the Public Service Commission, the Game Commission, and the Fish Commission, are subordinated, for fiscal reports only, to the Department of Public Instruction and other Departments, but the powers of the individual boards, for all other purposes, are left with them as at present.

A reduction of the Public Service Commission from seven members to five is made on the ground of economy and in the belief not only that five men, giving their full time to the work of the Commission, are abundantly sufficient to perform its duties, but that the business of the Commission will be expedited rather than retarded by such a reduction.

A pamphlet giving in detail the changes made in the Code as they affect each Department, Board, and Commission has been prepared, and will be placed in the hands of the General Assembly without delay.

Although remarkably compact for the ground it has to cover, the Code is necessarily a long document. It has been suggested that it should be referred for examination to a Commission which would report to the next General Assembly. I am vigorously opposed to such a plan. The test of a reorganization such as this is not what a commission thinks about it, but how it works in actual practice.

To refer the Code to a Commission would be merely to postpone for two years certain action which is absolutely necessary in cleaning us the mess. At the end of the two years we would be little, if any, ahead of where we are now, and far behind where we shall be if we put the reorganization into practice, see how it works, and thus discover what are its merits and defects. The next Legislature can then, on the basis of accurate knowledge founded on experience, make whatever changes it deems wise. The only effect of referring the Code to a Commission would be to cost the State two years of time in securing an economical and efficient government, and to increase the burden of the taxpayers by hundreds of thousands of dollars in needless expenses.

There is before the House a bond issue of $25,000,000 to purchase land for forest purposes. In my judgment this issue is of supreme importance to Pennsylvania as a great industrial Commonwealth. The day is clearly in sight when the forests outside our boundaries, which now supply more than four-fifths of the lumber we use, will be exhausted, and Pennsylvania industries will be forced to depend on what lumber is produced within the State or to go without.

Already we are paying for lumber imported into Pennsylvania, most of which could just as well be raised at home, not less than $100,000,000 yearly, or four times the amount of the proposed bond issue. Furthermore, we are so close to the verge of famine, should outside supplies fail, that if we were to strip our land of every sawlog in the State the whole of what we have would not keep our industries going for five years.

There is not a single business of any kind in Pennsylvania, no matter how far it may seem from dependence on wood, that could continue for a single day without the help of supplies from the forest. The more you think over that statement the more you will see its truth. An amount of wood equal to twice the whole product of the State goes into our anthracite mines alone each year, and the Pittsburgh district itself consumes more lumber than the State produces.

Lumber is more necesary for the cities than for the country, and when the pinch comes the cities and their industries will suffer first. The proposed bond issue is insurance for them. Indeed it is absolutely necessary insurance for the whole industrial and agricultural future of Pennsylvania. And it is insurance at no cost to the taxpayers. The land it is proposed to buy will not only produce lumber for our use when we need it most, but will repay its cost, principal and interest, and produce a very handsome profit to the State beside. Instead of an expense it will be a paying investment.

Pennsylvania has already bought something more than a million acres of land for forest purposes. The first cost was about $2,500,000; administration, protection, and development to December 31, 1921, cost about $5,200,000; or a total of about $7,700,000. These lands were worth on that date about $12,250,000. The net profit over and above all costs of every kind was therefore $4,500,000 to say nothing of about a quarter of a million turned in to the School Fund.

The General Assembly will have before it no more meritorous and necessary measure than this.

I commend to the favorable consideration of the Legislature also the passage of the road bond issue. Permanent roads are investments that pay their way with goodly returns.

I ask for $250,000 to be used under the direction of the Governor for the purpose of enforcing the law. While the amount asked for is extremely moderate, the purpose for which this sum is to be used gives it special importance. To refuse it would be to hamper the executive in carrying out his sworn duty and to play directly into the hands of law breakers throughout the State.

This administration looks forward to what needs to be done as well as backward to what needs to be corrected. The Budget, for example is not a mere compromise between contending demands for money, but represents the best judgment of the Administration, in view of the financial condition of the Commonwealth, as to what services the State should and can render to its people in the next two years. In dealing with this problem our present difficulties were not allowed to prevent consideration of the future interests of Pennsylvania.

The prosperity of our State hereafter depends directly on the vision and wisdom with which we now plan for the development of our resources in wealth and in citizenship. Among the questions to which this Administration has applied forward looking points of view are the followng.

The maintenance and improvement of our common schools, which is the basis of our citizenship and the guarantee of our welfare.

The promotion of higher learning for the advantage of every social and industrial purpose within our Commonwealth.

The conservation of our productive power through the lessening of disease and the increase of the public health.

The conservation of the lives and well-being of our workers through the efficient administration and wise improvement of our labor laws.

The foresting of agriculture, with particular emphasis on better methods of distribution both for the producer and the consumer of food.

The foresting and expansion of the commercial interests of the State through a Department specifically devoted to that purpose.

The maintenance and extension of our system of good roads for the benefit of every element in the community.

The protection and development of our forests so that the agricultural and industrial interests of the State may be guaranteed against the complete failure of a supply of the most indispensable of all materials, which is wood.

A Giant Power survey leading to the planned and orderly development of all available sources of power in Pennsylvania, and the protection of Pennsylvania's right to a due share of the power produced in adjacent territory.

Finally, the enforcement of the law itself in order that the reproach of law breaking may pass from our Commonwealth and that Pennsylvania may become again what she was in the beginning—the leader among the States in respect for law and in defense of the national constitution, which is the bond of our common union.

ADJOURNMENT OF JOINT SESSION.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The business for which the Joint Session was convened having been completed the Joint Session is now adjourned. The members of the Senate are requested to return to the Senate Chamber at once, in order that they may continue the consideration of their calendar.

SPEAKER GOODNOUGH IN THE CHAIR.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 332, as follows:

An Act validating deeds and mortgages of corporations heretofore erroneously executed and acknowledged

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where any deed of conveyance or mortgage heretofore executed purporting to be the act and deed of a corporation or specifically therein naming the corporation as the grantor or party of the first part shall have been erroneously executed by failure to affix the coporate seal or otherwise and erroneously acknowledged by any officers of such corporation or shall have been executed and acknowledged by the officers of such corporation in the manner prescribed by law for the execution and acknowledgment of deeds and mortgages by individuals but in such manner as to show that they were signing or acknowledging the said deed or mortgage in their official capacity such deed or mortgage is hereby ratified confirmed and made valid as the act and deed of the corporation and shall be taken to be of the same validity and effect as if properly executed and acknowledged in the manner prescribed by law for the execution and acknowledgment of deeds and mortgages by corporations Provided That no case now in litigation shall be affected by this act.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 75 House Bill No. 865, file folio 685, entitled:

An Act to amend section seventy-five of an act approved March 31, 1860 (P. L. 382,) entitled "An act to consolidate, Revise and Amend the Penal Laws of this Commonwealth"; by providing that the penalty for murder of the first degree shall be either death or life imprisonment at the discretion of the jury or of the court as the case may be.

on page 6 of the calendar of Tuesday, March 27, was defeated, be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the Senate bill leaving it to the jury to determine whether it should be death or life imprisonment sentence in first degree murder. The bill was defeated in the House. The District Attorneys' Convention has forwarded a request to a number of members that the bill be put back on the calendar and sent to a committee for a hearing. This is the reason the motion to reconsider is made, and I ask the members of the House to reconsider the vote, so that the bill can be returned to the Judiciary General Committee and a hearing be had.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, in order that we may understand this bill, and so that there will be no misunderstanding, the other night when this bill was called up I happened to be out of the room, and when I came back the vote was being taken. I feel that the members of the House do not understand this bill, or did not understand it at that time. I have been given to understand by the District Attorneys of the Commonwealth, that at a meeting of a convention of theirs, held here in Harrisburg not long ago, that they all agreed that this bill was a meritorious bill. You will remember the bill passed the House and Senate last session, and for some reason or other the Governor vetoed it. I have no doubt, but if this bill passes the jurors than can be called to hear murder cases will be of a higher quality than those that at the present time hear murder cases, by reason of their conscientious scruples. I believe also that justice will be meted out much better by this bill than if it was not passed. In other words, I know, and many of you also, who have tried cases in criminal court, know that there are many times certain circumstances surrounding cases, where the ingredients of murder in the first degree exist, and where it is almost impossible for the jury to do anything else but convict, and yet that jury taking into consideration the fact that while the ingredients of murder in the first degree exist, they are met face to face with the awful consequences of their verdict, and therefore, rather than convict that person, and recommending them, as they have a right to do in this case, to life imprisonment, they find that defendant not guilty. And another reason, I think from a humane stand point that this bill should be passed: The old law of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth is long past, and there are many instances, just as I have quoted, where the man or woman does not have the hardness of heart to inflict capital punishment, and there is a chance for that man or woman, if an opportunity is left open to her or him, to reform, and perhaps live over and live down, although it may be murder, live down that act. Therefore, I think that in the proper administration of justice, I believe justice can be better administered, and that the humane side will be properly carried out by the passage of this act. Therefor, I am heartily in favor that this bill be reconsidered and referred to the committee, as has been suggested, for a hearing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the "Noes" appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, seventy one members voting in the affirmative, and seventy eight in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.
